Officials Seek To Subvert Law, LaFollette Says

Independent Presidential Candidate Urges Couzens to Call Pair Up
OPPOSE TAX PUBLICITY
Purpose of Amendment Is to Permit Checkup on Tax Dodgers

By Associated Press
Kingston, N. Y.—Senator Couzens, chairman of a committee authorized to investigate the internal revenue bureau, was urged Saturday by Senator LaFollette, independent presidential candidate, to call Secretary Mellon and Commissioner Blair of the bureau before the committee and to ask them "by what authority they seek to subvert the will of congress."

In sending a telegram to Mr. Couzens, who was on his way south from Syracuse, look cognizance of published reports that the two officials have objected to the publication by newspapers of the names of taxpayers and the amount of income taxes.

Declaring he understood Mr. Blair has issued a warning "threatening newspapers with fine and imprisonment," if they published such information, Senator LaFollette said he believed the commissioner's "threat violates the spirit of the publicity amendment of the revenue act and subverts the intent of congress that the public school should know who is paying taxes and how much they pay."

MEANS FOR CHECKUPS
"The purpose of this amendment," continued Mr. LaFollette's telegram to Mr. Couzens, "was to provide a means of checking up on tax dodgers by exposing the facts to public scrutiny. This purpose will be defeated if publication is prevented."

"Secretary Mellon is quoted as saying that congress did not intend to permit newspaper publications to satisfy idle curiosity. Secretary Mellon may regard it as idle curiosity for the public to know who is paying taxes, and who is dodging them, but congress did not so regard it when it passed this amendment at an end of a fight extending over more than ten years."

"This is another example of the arrogance of Secretary Mellon in setting himself up as a judge over congress, similar in purpose to his action in attempting to block investigation by the senate of his own department."

As he traveled southward today from Syracuse, N. Y., where he spoke Friday night, Senator LaFollette had in prospect a weekend rest in Alton, Md., a village on the Susquehanna river, before plunging into his week-end campaigning. He has no speaking engagement on his schedule for Saturday night.

ISSUE WARNINGS TO STOP BRUSH FIRES

By Associated Press
Oconto.—Warning notices are being issued here and posted in Forest to prevent the spread of forest and brush fires which are now raging in the vicinity of Laona along the Soo railway.

Friday night 100 men were making a desperate fight to stop the fires which are rapidly spreading through the dry leaves and which are now running into the green timber.

The conditions in the fire zone Saturday morning were dangerous and settlers are warned to be ready to protect their lives and property.

MOTHER HEARS FROM MISSING BELOIT MAN
Beloit.—Mrs. Mary C. Porter, mother of John F. Porter, 21, middle of the United States Rubber Co., who has been mysteriously missing in New York since last Friday, received a letter here from her son, dated Oct. 24, at which time he seemed to be in the best of health and spirits. Investigators engaged by the rubber company, Fairbanks Morse and Co., the American Legion, New York newspapers and all the eastern radio stations are assisting in the hunt for Porter.

Near Death

Secretary Henry C. Wallace is losing ground in his fight against toxemia poisoning following his operation last week, according to an announcement of his physicians Saturday. His condition is described as critical, but there still is hope for his recovery, the announcement says.

FIRE IN RUBBISH PILE THREATENS LUMBER STORAGE

Firemen Work All Night to Control Blaze in City Dumping Grounds

Firemen were kept busy on Friday and spent many hours in preventing what might have been a serious fire, but no serious damage resulted.

After having been called to extinguish a small rubbish fire near the August Brandt company garage, the firemen Friday afternoon were called to the public dumping grounds off Walnut-st where refuse had again ignited.

Sparks from the burning rubbish frequently ignited the roof of one of the sheds of the Hettlinger Lumber company. The company's employees kept the roof soaked with the use of a garden hose.

The fire was extinguished, but at 9 o'clock it broke out afresh and kept the firemen at the grounds until morning. Two lines of hose were used, but the slow burning fire was of the most obstinate nature. These are not the first fires to break out at the dumping grounds. They have been so frequent that Chief George P. McGilgan has it in mind to ask that the deposit of inflammable material be forbidden.

At 3 o'clock Friday afternoon the firemen responded to a call to extinguish a rubbish fire on Candee-st. and at 8:45 Saturday morning they put out another fire which started on the roof of a residence at the Miles Meldam greenhouse.

GREEN BAY OFFICIALS FORSEE TAX INCREASE

Green Bay.—The possibility of an increase in the tax rate in Green Bay this year is recognized by city officials with the development of the fact that the actual gain in the assessed valuation of taxable property is only $26,000. The small gain is accounted for by the fact that there was a loss on paper of $2,000,000, due to the exemptions granted home owners under the state law which became operative this year.

DRUG DEMAND YIELDS CLEW IN TONG WAR

Milwaukee Officials Seek Well Dressed Man With Alleged Forged Order

By Associated Press
Milwaukee.—Police and federal authorities united Friday night in a city wide search for a well dressed man who Friday made at least two attempts at downtown pharmacies to obtain forty tablets of morphine on what are believed to have been forged prescriptions.

Police believe that the man who presented the prescriptions was acting as an agent for other persons actually desiring the narcotics, and are working on the theory that Chinese long gunmen, in hiding in the city may have employed this means to obtain morphine for themselves.

USE MORPHINE SUBSTITUTE
While Chinese are frequently addicted to opium, it was pointed out that they are willing to accept morphine in its stead.

Any tongmen who may have been sent to this city to execute a long sentence of death, would be unable to procure opium through any of the regular channels without disclosing his presence, the police reasoned.

The man made his first appearance at the Thornton Drug company, 16 Grand avenue, shortly after noon, where he procured a prescription purporting to have been signed by a Dr. C. J. Mercer of Galesburg, Ill. It was reported. The prescription called for forty quarter grain morphine tablets, and contained the notation, "Incurable tubercular."

FLEES IN FRIGHT
Surprised at the large amount of morphine called for, the drug clerk started to question the man about the script, and the man suddenly became frightened and fled, leaving the script with the clerk.

Police were at once notified. The clerk said the man was about 25 and was 5 feet 11 inches tall. He wore a gray felt hat, a light overcoat and was unusually well dressed.

While the police investigation of the affair was under way, a report was received that a man of the same description had presented a prescription calling for an equal amount of morphine at the drug store of W. J. Rice, Broadway. Here the pharmacist refused to fill the script and the man took it and walked away hurriedly.

GOVERNMENT AGENTS NOTIFIED

Government agents were at once called into the case and a checkup was started on all drug stores in the city to determine if any pharmacists had seen the man or filled narcotic prescriptions for him.

Telegrams were sent to Galesburg, in an effort to learn if a doctor named Mercer had prescribed morphine for anyone recently.

LABOR CONDITIONS IMPROVE IN STATE

Madison.—Improvement in employment conditions, particularly in the factory lines, was reported Saturday by the state industrial commission in its October summary of labor conditions. An increase in the average weekly earnings also was reported indicating more full time employment it was stated. Increases in number of employees in various lines follow:

Food canning, 2.5 per cent, metal working, 4.6 per cent; woodworking, 2.8 per cent, rubber 2; leather 4, chemical manufacturing, 21, wholesale trade, 18.7 per cent; retail trades, 10.5.

Declines were reported in the following industries: stone manufacturing, 2.2 per cent; paper manufacturing, 2; food products, 2.8; logging, 5.8, building construction, 8.9. Much of the declines are seasonal, it was stated.

Compared with a year ago employment is decreased in most lines, the commission reported.

FOUR ESCAPE UNHURT WHEN CAR MAKES DIVE

Beloit.—A midnight automobile high dive of 30 feet into Turtle creek resulted in no injuries to C. F. Reister, Rockford, and three others, who waded out of wreckage six hours later—Friday morning—his machine was hauled out of the creek and proceeded to a garage under its own power. The dive followed a collision with another car driven by R. C. Fontus, Beloit.

Seeks Means Of Stopping Grain Flood

Minneapolis.—With more grain being shipped at country points than can be handled at the terminals in Minneapolis and Duluth, representatives of railroads and shippers met here Saturday to discuss possible measures for preventing further congestion at these terminals.

The problem was taken up with the joint terminal gain committee of the northwest Regional Advisory board, American Railroad association, car service division.

P. J. Coleman, district manager of the car service division, said a survey has disclosed that there is being loaded at the country points 700 cars a day more than the consumptive demand in Minneapolis and at the head of the lakes.

It also has been disclosed, he said, that the total number of cars at Duluth, exceed the number on record when the embargo on the shipment of grain to Duluth was ordered, Oct. 2.

LUTHERANS PLAN TO EXTEND WORK ALL OVER NATION

Board of Missions Announces Intention to Spread from Mexico to Alaska

Chicago.—Expansion of evangelical effort toward the Arctic Circle on the north and the Mexican border on the south is announced Saturday by the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension of the United Lutheran Church in America. The fact that the church has just entered Alaska as a new field for missionary work was called to the attention of the biennial convention of the Lutherans now in session here.

The first evangelical stakes in the great American territory of the northwest have been driven at Juneau and other towns have been found ready for Lutheran occupancy. In some of these Alaskan communities more than half of the Protestant population is Lutheran.

The great prairie provinces of the Canadian west with their fertile fields and swiftly growing cities are attracting rapidly increasing numbers of Lutheran settlers who are calling for Lutheran field secretaries, missionaries and pastors.

About 60 per cent of the immigration from Europe to America under the new quota law is coming from populations where the Lutheran church is the dominant religious organization. It follows that this influx of selected Nordic stock from northern Europe upon which acquisition America is now priding itself, throws an added burden upon the resources of the United Lutheran church in America. This has been felt all over the country. Not merely in the suburban and rural districts, but in the crowded centers of population throughout the country, the Lutherans and challenging opportunities for missionary effort. The board asserts that "every dollar of our income could be expended and every available man used for the next two years in the metropolitan sections where the United Lutheran church has reasonably strong representation."

WORLD MUST COOPERATE, COOLIDGE TELLS DINERS

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—International cooperation, applied according to the golden rule, was summed up as the foreign policy of this government by President Coolidge in an address here Friday night at the golden rule dinner of the Near East Relief association.

Saturday's program gave the president an opportunity to rest somewhat from the strenuous activities of the last few days, during which he has delivered three speeches, including one of the most extensive he has made. Sunday night however, he will address by radio a meeting in New York of the Federated Societies of Jewish Charities.

WHIPPANY, N. J.—Screams of a young woman and two men who had been tied to trees in the South Mountain reservation by five bandits, led passing motorists to rescue them and reveal a $7,000 payroll holdup of the R. L. McEwan Brothers paper board factory at Whippany.

FRANCE PLANS TO RECOGNIZE RUSS SOVIETS

British Object to Russian Propaganda Among Laborers, Report

Paris.—It was stated in authoritative circles Friday night that the French government is about to announce officially the recognition de jure and without conditions of the Russian soviet government.

It was added that as soon as diplomatic relations between France and Russia are resumed negotiations will be begun to settle the question of Russian state debts contracted before the bolshevik revolution, as well as the question of the property of French citizens in Russia confiscated by the soviet government.

RESENT PROPAGANDA

London.—The British government again is in conflict with the Russian soviet government on the question of propaganda, according to correspondence issued by the foreign office Friday night for publication in Saturday's newspapers.

In a letter dated Friday signed "In the absence of the secretary of state," by one of the permanent officials of the foreign office J. T. Gregory, and addressed to Christian Rakovsky, the Russian charge d'affaires in London, attention is drawn to an accompanying copy of a letter received by the central committee of the British communist party from M. Zinovieff, president of the committee of the communist international dated Aug. 15.

CALLS DIRECT INTERFERENCE
"This letter," says Mr. Gregory's communication, "contains instructions to British subjects to work for the subversion of his majesty's armed forces by means to that end. It is for us to inform you that his majesty's government can not allow this propaganda and must regard it as direct interference from the outside in British domestic affairs."

HUGHES MAY REPLY TO BOB'S ATTACKS

Secretary of State Expected to Refute LaFollette's Statements

By Associated Press
St. Paul, Minn.—A reply to Senator LaFollette's recent address in Minneapolis when the senator attacked the administration of President Coolidge, is expected to be part of the theme of Charles Evans Hughes, secretary of state, when he speaks at the Auditorium here Saturday night.

Hughes was due to arrive here shortly before noon from Baltimore where he spoke Thursday night. He was accompanied by Chicago by Governor J. A. O. Pious of Minnesota.

The secretary is scheduled to speak here at 8:30 P. M. and his address will be broadcast by W. C. A. L., the St. Olaf college station at Northfield, Minn.

CHIHILI LEADER SEEKS TO TURN MANCHU FLANK

By Associated Press
Peking.—It was stated authoritatively here that General Wu Pei-fu, Chihli military leader, who was reported to have fled to Tsing Tao with his troops, had Saturday morning launched a heavy attack on the Shanhaikwan front in an endeavor to turn the right flank of the opposing forces of General Chang Eshun, the Manchurian war lord.

General Wu, it was believed here, apparently is determined to try for a quick final decision in his war on General Chang by assuming the offensive instead of a strategic withdrawal. His men, it was said, evidently were unaware of the recent events in Peking brought about by the defection of the "Christian" General, Feng Yuxiang and their morale was reported as excellent.

KENOSHA MANUFACTURER VICTIM OF HEART ATTACK

By Associated Press
Kenosha.—Henry S. Cooper, aged 68 years, leading manufacturer of Kenosha, founder of the Cooper underwear Co. and one of the most widely known men in the textile business in the country died suddenly at his country home, Dunnoville, here Saturday morning following an attack of angina pectoris.

Smith Helps Davis But Can't Win For Him, Lawrence Says

Conclusion Warranted That LaFollette's Entry Precludes Fair Test Between Smith and Roosevelt

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1924 by the Post Pub. Co.
New York City.—All through the United States from coast to coast the question most often asked in political discussion has been "Will Al Smith help Davis to carry New York state?"

After an investigation among men who know what is going on in the Empire state, the conclusion seems warranted that the entry of LaFollette into the race has complicated the situation to the point where a fair test of the respective candidacies of Al Smith and young Theodore Roosevelt on the one hand or Coolidge and Davis on the other hand will not be obtained on election day.

The scratching of tickets is not only anticipated on a larger scale than ever before, but combinations are being made which will affect the result.

There are those who think they will help Al Smith's ultimate career in politics most by voting for him for governor and for some else besides Davis for president—usually LaFollette. There are those who think Republican votes for Al Smith will be traded for Democratic votes for Coolidge.

TAMMANY IS WISE

But much of this can be brushed aside as beyond the actual control of the leaders themselves. For Tammany is wise enough to recognize that to win for Al Smith they must work hard for Davis. No practical politician likes to face a situation in which his only hope of victory is in a scratched ticket. His aim usually is to win votes for a straight ticket.

This is the safest politics and Tammany knows it. Within the past week, Tammany has seemed to realize that its objective must be a straight ticket or else run the risk of finding Al Smith snowed under by the very same tactics of straight ticket voting on the part of the Republicans, who hope to carry Roosevelt into office on the crest of the Coolidge wave.

To begin with, New York state is normally Republican. It went for Hughes in 1918 as against Wilson, and for 30 years or more has not gone Democratic with the exception of 1912 when the split Republican vote. So when Al Smith was persuaded to run it was with a recognition that he alone might save the day. Otherwise the state was conceded to the Republicans.

Two weeks ago Al Smith seemed to be handicapped by his own national ticket to such an extent that a coalition of 1920 was freely expected. On that occasion Harding carried New York by a million votes while Smith made the amazing run of 60,000 votes behind the victorious candidate for governor.

EXPECT REPETITION
Somewhat the same sort of outcome can be looked for this year except that Coolidge is not as strong as Harding was in 1920 and LaFollette has come into the picture and will draw heavily from the Democrats in the metropolitan area. One of the close friends of the writer in the Democratic management said that a fortnight ago he felt Coolidge would carry the state by 300,000 and Al Smith by 60,000, but that he thinks now there is a drift to Davis which might possibly make the race a little closer.

Does Al Smith help Davis? When the ballots are counted it will be found that the two Democratic nominees will run closer together in New York state than the state and national tickets in other state, Smith will help Davis but he cannot pull him to victory. He has a hard fight himself.

PRINCE IS WISTFUL ON DEPARTURE FROM SHORES OF AMERICA

New York.—Blowing her way across the Atlantic the liner Olympic is bearing the Prince of Wales back to England with souvenirs and memories of his American visit. He was a little wistful as he looked for the last time at the jagged skyline of New York.

A score of reporters boarded the vessel at her pier soon after the Prince of Wales and his staff had hurried up the gang plank. He conferred with them and posed for photographers willingly, though he still showed a little embarrassment.

On the ship he was greeted by the British ambassador, Sir Esme Howard, and Captain Howarth, commander of the Olympic. He was led through lines of sailors to the suite that had been reserved for him. He thought the mahogany and gold finish "too pretty" for him and turned it over to G. M. F. Trotter and took another, done in white and gold, for himself.

WALLACE IS LOSING IN FIGHT FOR LIFE

Physicians Announce Secretary Is in Critical Condition From Poisoning

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—Secretary Wallace lost ground during the night in his fight against toxemia poisoning which set in Friday after an operation last week for removal of his appendix and gall bladder.

Dr. Joel T. Boone, the White House physician who is attending the secretary told inquirers Saturday morning that the patient's condition was critical and not as favorable as it was Friday night, but he was "still hopeful." Mrs. Wallace spent the night at her husband's bedside in the Naval hospital and Dr. Boone, with physicians called in for consultation on Friday including James P. Couper, personal physician to President Coolidge and Dr. Thomas Boggs of Johns Hopkins university, maintained a similar vigil.

INDIAN VICEROY TAKES ACTION AGAINST REVOLT

By Associated Press
Simla, British India.—The Earl of Reading, viceroy of India, Saturday exercised his emergency powers by the promulgation of an ordinance suspending the ordinary criminal law in Bengal, with a view to suppressing revolutionary crimes on the part of the anarchical movement which it was stated was found to be deep seated and dangerous.

SMALLPOX CASE LEADS TO SCHOOL VACCINATION

By Associated Press
Northampton, Mass.—Whole-school vaccination was in progress at Smith college Saturday because a recent visitor developed smallpox after her return to her home in New York State. The new college gymnasium was used for vaccination purposes, and it was said Saturday that by Monday the entire student body would be inoculated. A temporary quarantine was established.

Washington, D. C.—While its process servers sought witnesses wanted in connection with efforts to corroborate somewhat sensational but as yet secret stories regarding the alleged misuse of funds in the Republican campaign, the senate campaign fund investigating committee stood Saturday in recess.

Resuming the inquiry Monday, the senators will explore new fields, among them the "straw vote" taken by the Literary Digest in the presidential campaign. Committee members in making known that subpoenas had been issued for officials of the Digest Publishing Co., said they wanted to know the source of the funds used to defray the cost of the nationwide poll and the manner in which it is being conducted.

CALL W. S. MELLON

Another unexplored field, which probably will be entered upon next week is the amount and source of the funds collected in the Pittsburgh district for the Republican national committee. W. L. Mellon nephew of Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, who, the committee has been informed, as chairman of the collection committee in that district will be the principal witnesses in this phase of the inquiry.

Decisions to issue subpoenas for men who may be able to substantiate stories told by two Chicago men about the misuse of funds in the campaign was reached late Friday after the character of these stories had been told to the committee in executive session by Frank P. Walsh of Kansas City and Samuel Untermyer of New York counsel for Senator LaFollette.

70 ARTERY STREET JUMPERS PAY FINES

All but five of the 75 automobilists who were arrested in a two day crusade against violators of the city arterial highway ordinance, have appeared in court and settled their account with the city by the customary fine of $1 plus $3.20 in costs. Judge A. M. Spencer estimated that if the illegal practice of shooting through arterial streets continues he will raise the "ante."

Those who had not appeared by Saturday morning were L. P. Beyer, Milwaukee, Frank Schaeffer, Menasha, J. I. Cohen, Appleton, and Charles Schleffen, Black Creek. Those whose names had not been reported previously are George Shatter, Eugene W. Wendling, William Pennock, P. I. Peters, I. Baehall and Emory Rutzheimer.

Another tract of land fronting on Maple Grove-st has been acquired by Lawrence college from Mrs. John Dix, Sr., to complete the plans for the big Lawrence field which now is under construction there. The deal was completed Saturday morning.

This property, which contains a ravine was desired by the college so a stadium may be erected there some time in the future. The topography adapts itself naturally for a project of this kind.

Frontage of 577 feet on Maple Grove-st is included in the new purchase, making the total length of the field on that street 1,100 feet. The land runs almost to South River-st with an outlet from the field to that street on Wags-ave. The entire tract includes approximately 20 acres over

CHILDREN BEGIN POLITICS STUDY IN EARLY GRADES

Lincoln School Pupils Well Versed in Use of Voting Privilege

The older folks probably won't want to admit it but it probably is true that there are a lot of grade school children know more than their elders do about voting. This is especially likely to be true of pupils in fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades of Lincoln school where election has been made a project and each child is doing his part on educating the people to use the privilege of voting. The election project has been taken up in all schools of the Second district.

Pass into the Lincoln school some day before Nov. 4 and witness the work the youngsters do. In the upper grades one will find bulletin boards filled with news of election and of what the candidates are doing, pictures of favorites are posted, and on the borders around the blackboard are inscribed "get out to vote" slogans. Nothing has been left undone.

NO PARTISANSHIP

Each teacher has given an outline of an election project. Great caution is taken to prevent the entrance of partisanship, for it is not desired that any brand of politics be preached. The main purpose is to encourage children to do the talking and to allow them to be aggressive in the matter, rather than the teacher.

"The schools are taking this opportunity to build better citizens by making them intelligent voters," said B. J. Roban, principal of Second district schools.

The outline given the teachers is divided into five parts, (1) necessity of intelligent voting, (2) what is necessary for intelligent voting, (3) machinery and officers for voting, (4) how to stimulate interest, (5) instructions regarding the methods to be pursued.

STUDY CANDIDATE

The children are encouraged to know why they're voting instead of voting for a candidate because their parents intend to or because they like his appearance. They have debates, write themes, work out projects of their own, study the platforms thoroughly and make scrapbooks containing pictures, biographies and current news of the candidates.

One of the most interesting of the projects worked out is a map that hangs in the seventh grade room in Lincoln school. A glance at it reveals that 75 per cent of the women do not vote and 32 per cent of the men do not vote. By a system the children have worked out a figure in white tells how many electoral votes each state has, green stars show the states claimed by Progressives, blue stars show the states claimed by the Republicans and red stars show the states claimed by the Democrats. Yellow figures tell the number of people in each state who do not vote.

The platforms of the candidates are set forth in the clearest way possible and each child is encouraged to understand them thoroughly.

VOTING PRACTICE

On Nov. 4 the children will be given the privilege of voting in the polls. Everything is to be carried on just as it will take place at the polls in the city so that the young people may be educated in the right method. They will be required to vote, but the interest is so high that no slackers are anticipated. Sample ballots are studied carefully.

Nov. 3, the day before election, debate teams composed of seventh and eighth grade students will debate the question, "Resolved, that Coolidge be our president rather than Le Follette." These two candidates are the most popular with the students, who are allowed to choose as they please in this matter.

The affirmative team is composed of Helen Snyder and Dorothy Kubitz of the eighth grade and Francis Thompson of the seventh grade while the negative team includes Evelyn Faach, Ruth Pietto and Esther Horn, all of the eighth grade.

A theme that is representative of the work that schools have been doing is one that follows, written by Arline Herrmann of the seventh grade of the Lincoln school:

"Every man and woman in the United States should vote Nov. 4. In Wisconsin every time one hundred people vote, ninety do not. In Kentucky every time one hundred people, twenty do not. We want to beat Kentucky. I know we can do it if we try. Every child should get his parents to vote. The people who grumble are usually the ones that do not vote."

"Most of the women think that the men should do all. But they have just as much right to vote as the men. Seventy-five per cent of the women do not vote. I'm sure we can bring that percentage down. "Every voter on the job."

Specify How Autos Must Leave Alleys

This is the seventh of a series of articles dealing with Appleton's new traffic ordinance. Driving and riding sections of the law will be taken up in this and a subsequent publication. There are three "blind" alleys in the downtown section that have been an annoyance to pedestrians because of cars darting onto the sidewalk and then back into the alley. Appleton eliminate this nuisance entirely. The ordinance declares specifically that no automobiles are to depart from the alleys at certain points.

One way traffic through these alleys was considered by the ordinance committee when the law was in preparation, according to Alderman George T. Richard, chairman, but modification was adopted because it was believed the measure would be too strict. It therefore is possible for cars to enter from any direction but leave only from certain others, in each case at the point where there is the least danger of accident.

Alleys in block six and twenty-six have an exit only at the west. The first is the alley on Appleton-st. between the Post-Crescent and Roemer printing plants, and extending through to Superior-st. and College-ave. Machines may leave only at the latter intersection. The other is the alley between Appleton-st. and Superior-st. next to Pettibone annex and at the rear of Insurance-bldg. Here cars must depart only by way of Superior-st. A third alley named in the ordinance is that in block 28, extending from Oneida to Morrison-st. between Conway hotel and Whedon-bldg. No cars may leave by way of Oneida-st. They may enter that way but must leave at Morrison-st. This prevents them from emerging into the heavy motor and street car traffic.

All drivers are required to observe certain other rules which were added to the ordinance in the interest of safe and cautious driving. When turning a corner or starting or stopping he first must ascertain whether any other automobile is near. No car may enter a place designated as a safety zone and all must keep to the right of indicators at street intersections. "Cutting corners" thus is placed in the list of violations of the traffic law.

Cars are prevented from being driven two abreast and are not to be driven backward unless absolutely necessary. Drivers are required to look back before backing up.

Some people still are confused about the new law concerning left turns and "U" turns on College-ave. There is only one corner where automobiles cannot turn left. That is at College-ave and Oneida-st. where the stop-go light system is used. At all other points they may turn left, but cannot make a complete turn around on corners from Drew-st. to Walnut-st. inclusive.

ON THE SCREEN

"WOMAN IN CHAINS"

Never before in the history of the New Bijou Theatre has there appeared at that playhouse a picture that can equal "The Woman in Chains" which will be shown Monday and Tuesday for a striking love story that is absolutely free from the eternal triangle.

The picture is the work of Edward Owings Towne and was adapted from the book now published under the title of The Madonna in Chains. The story is laid in Paris and on the love affairs of a young artist-planter who leave his sweetheart on the Isle of Romance while he seeks fame in Parisian art circles. In Paris he meets and falls in love with another who is the sweetheart of an Apache dancer.

Wedded to the Apache sweetheart a child is born and when it is but two

OPEN BIDS ON OIL HEATER FOR "Y"

Bids to furnish the Y. M. C. A. with an oil-heating apparatus were opened and referred to the house committee Thursday afternoon. This committee also will determine if the outside of the building is to be painted this year. The house committee consists of W. S. Smith, Harman Beske and J. N. Fisher.

The question of refrigeration for the cafeteria was left for 1925 as there is no provision in this year's budget for it. It will be provided for next year.

An advisory committee from the employment department to confer with a similar committee appointed by the chamber of commerce was appointed. This committee, which will make a study of the employment situation, consists of George H. Packard, F. E. Schlitz, and A. F. Tuttle. Reports of the employed officers concluded the meeting.

Reginald Denny, erstwhile hero of fighting pictures, and more recently a sensational automobile racer in "Sporting Youth," is also a great comedian, even if he does persist in injecting thrills into his comedy. Any who doubt this need only see him in "The Rocking Age," today and Sunday at the Elite Theatre.

Denny does a little of everything he ever did before, from staging a sensational fight to riding a mad race in an automobile. But this time he does it in an atmosphere of laughs; the laughs of Earl Derr Bigger's Saturday Evening Post story, "Love Insurance," from which the play was made; a hilarious series of complications surrounding a nobleman who took out insurance against failure to marry an heiress. Denny is the insurance expert, sent to protect the policy, who has to protect the action of nobility from a breach of promise suit, blackmailers, diamond thieves and other troubles galore.

7% and Safety in Lakeside Preferred Shares

During the past thirty days nearly 600 Wisconsin men and women, nearly all savings investors, have bought 7% cumulative preferred shares of Wisconsin Electric Power Co.

Nearly one-half of these investors are buying from one to twenty shares — $5 down and $5 a month per share. Interest at 7% is allowed on their monthly payments, credited on the final payment. They are making their current monthly savings earn a full business rate of income, and are acquiring a very high grade permanent, State-regulated income investment.

The shares cost $100 each. Fully paid-up shares draw 7% dividends from the day you buy them.

In case of need, original shareholders can have the shares resold on short notice, through the Securities Department, at $100 each less $1 a share resale charge.

Meanwhile, each $100 share brings its owner a dividend check for $1.75 on January 1, April 1, July 1 and October 1, each year.

These shares are sold with the State's approval to finance large plant additions. They are, in our judgment, the safest 7% income investment now obtainable in this state. We recommend them especially to wage earners and other savings investors who want real safety for their money, with a standard income from it, paid four times each year.

Call, write or telephone and let us send a Circular or a salesman to explain this investment. Mail orders filled by registered letter.

CHARGE APPLETON MAN WAS DRUNK WHILE DRIVING

George Roehl of Appleton was arrested by a Winnebago-co officer on a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor. The arrest followed a collision between Roehl's car and a sedan driven by Joseph A. Redner, Neenah garage man, on highway 18, near Appleton. It will be necessary to transfer the case to Calumet-co. since the alleged offense was committed in that county near Waverly beach. The Redner machine was considerably damaged in the collision.

BROADENING THE INTERPRETATION OF LAW

The fallacy of the contention that the supreme court of the United States is responsive to social progress and cannot be relied upon to protect the interests of labor and the people at large is further disclosed by the decision just made in which the right to trial by jury by strikers charged with violating an injunction is upheld. This decision, which is of far-reaching consequence, puts into effect a principle that labor has been fighting for for many years. Mr. Gompers says the decision is "constructive and progressive" and that the court "unquestionably is mindful of the trend of the times."

It will, of course, be asserted by those who continually assail the supreme court and who wish to abolish its power to pass on the constitutionality of legislation that the motive behind this decision is political and to anticipate the election. We do not believe fair-minded citizens will entertain so low an opinion of an institution whose integrity and honesty, whatever its construction of the law may have been, have never been questioned. This decision is in line with practically all of the precedents set by the supreme court in the interpretation of law to conform to changed social conditions. We have constantly had this broadened application of the constitution and we will continue to have it. At the same time we also have the additional security of all rights guaranteed by the constitution, which is of inestimable value to every person.

Labor will continue its efforts to have the injunction abolished altogether in industrial disputes and strikes. It is perhaps not going too far to predict that in the end it may be successful. There is not a little in support not only of the justice of its position, but of the legal principle that the offenses an injunction is intended to cover are such crimes as are punished only by the usual criminal procedure.

The record of the supreme court, taken as a whole, is not only constructive, but it is highly protective to the interests and welfare of the individual, of minorities and of labor, as well as of all other interests in the country which must depend upon justice and fair dealing in law and government.

BROADCASTING NEWS

The Chicago Tribune announces that it will contest in the courts if necessary a ruling of the Associated Press which prohibits members from broadcasting news furnished by it or gathered by the member newspapers. The Associated Press is what its name implies, an association of newspapers for the cooperative gathering and furnishing of news. The Associated Press through its bylaws asserts an exclusive proprietary right not only to the news it gathers through its staff of correspondents, but the news gathered by its members. It therefore endeavors to prevent members from broadcasting this news in advance of publication, for the reason that it would be exposing its news to the appropriation of rival associations.

The development of the radio presents a new situation with reference to this ruling. It raises the question whether the broadening of exclusively originated news in advance of publication is detrimental to the interests of the newspaper, and whether it is of any practical advantage to competing news agencies. The importance of the question is illustrated in the case of the general elections in November, when the people, millions of them out of touch with the centers where the results are first known, will have a keen desire to receive the information at the earliest possible moment. It is a great opportunity for newspapers to display enterprise for its advertising value in broadcasting the news.

We believe the position taken by the Chicago Tribune is the right one. We have no fear of the effects of broadcasting upon the sale of newspapers or upon their circulation. People will continue to read newspapers for the complete account of the day's news irrespective of whether a portion of it is broadcasted or not. It will be futile to resist or attempt to restrict the use of so valuable a medium of public information as the radio. To do so would be analogous to the early attempts to bar the introduction of machinery in industry.

So far as playing into the hands of rival news agencies is concerned, we think that is of minor concern. No news organization worthy of the name would depend upon lifting or stealing news from its competitors. It may do so in some instances, but in the main it will have to depend upon its own resources. How the courts will view the claim of the Associated Press to ownership and control of news gathered by itself and its members will be an interesting legal issue.

PROHIBITION AND POLITICS

Some months ago President Coolidge called together the governors of the various states to secure their cooperation in enforcing the Volstead act. At that time he pledged them to "use the machinery of the government to enforce the law to its fullest extent." Publicity is now given to a letter said to have been written by Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney-general in charge of prohibition enforcement, in which she charges that she is unable to enforce the law because senators and politicians use their influence to keep unfit prohibition officials in office. She is particularly censorious of United States attorneys "because of their inactivity or political evasiveness."

Assuming that the authenticity of this letter is established, the country will be quite willing to believe that Mrs. Willebrandt's accusations are true. The nationwide scandal attending prohibition enforcement, which the late President Harding called attention to, has not been abated. Bootlegging and moonshining continue on a colossal scale. Interference with this illegal traffic is intermittent and feeble. It is easy to believe that to a large degree politics is responsible for this. Immense fortunes are rapidly accumulated by this unlawful business. The profits are large and quick. Any violation of law which can be commercialized to this extent is morally certain to seek political alliances and corrupt or other control of law enforcing officers.

Laying aside the fact that we have adopted as a national policy legislation which is incapable of complete application, there is every reason to believe that there is a scandalous relationship between the liquor traffic and politics. The disclosures made by the senate investigation into the department of justice prove this assumption and it is not likely that the influence of this traffic with officeholders and politicians has ceased.

Mrs. Willebrandt's charges go to the bottom of the issue of law enforcement. It is not possible to have perfect enforcement of the Volstead act, but it is possible to go a great deal further than the government is going. The reason it does not go further unquestionably lies in the political ramifications of the liquor business.

Let's see now. In Detroit, somebody shot a Chinese laundryman instead of cutting his throat with a collar.

Jackie Coogan says he is tired of Europe. That's nothing. The whole United States is tired of Europe.

We are writing to learn in John Sonowski, who is running for office in Michigan, is kin to John S. andeo.

TAKEN IN ONE SITTING

Dear Sir:
Is a girl who is only 56 inches tall (short) a dwarf? Yes, of course. I weigh 102 pounds, and at the age of 23 years I am just the height of the average 12 year old girl.

But in the race I belong to (Jewish) there are so many undersized men and women. I know many Jewish women no taller than myself. Are we all misfits?

American people of almost all other races, and especially the Anglo-Saxon are taller.

I danced with a six footer recently who was embarrassed by our difference in size. (He asked for a dance when I was sitting down—the trunk of my body is as long as the normal. It seems to be my legs that are too short. I guess I got cheated on legs.)

Sometimes I feel as if I would like to hide away and not mix with normal people at all. I suppose I am morbidly self conscious. Wouldn't you be?

SHORTY.

I know how you feel. There's a newspaper guy in Chicago built like the chap you danced with. Walking about the street with that guy I generally have to take the curb side in order to keep my good ear in focus and quite unconsciously we get to calling each other Mutt and Jeff. When we sit down together we're on the level—or I am anyhow.

Science has not yet achieved the control of stature. Maybe this is just as well, for if there were some means of increasing or decreasing stature all the Muttis would become Jeffs and all the Jeffs would become Muttis, so we'd be as badly off as ever.

There are racial differences and geographic differences in stature which are difficult to account for. The Italians average considerably shorter than the French or the English, and the English average shorter than Americans. The people in our western states average taller than the people in the eastern states. The natives of the Kentucky mountains are famous for their high average stature. Chinese run taller than Japanese. Southern races generally average taller than southern races. There is nothing but conjecture and theory to explain these differences of stature.

In certain cases of lowered or deficient ductless gland function the growth is much retarded, and in some of these cases striking gains in height have been recorded when suitable ductless gland extracts or hormones have been given over a prolonged period. Dr. Browning reported in the New York State Journal of Medicine in 1919 a case of a frail girl of 14 years who had St. Vitus' dance and ceased growing. He gave her a pituitary gland extract and she gained over an inch in height in three months. A boy of 13 years who had also had St. Vitus' dance and seemed to have retarded growth gained two inches in 10 months, and in another 10 months he made a further gain of three inches—a total gain of five inches in less than two years, with a coincident gain of 20 pounds in weight. The boy at 13 was 56 inches tall and weighed only 70 pounds.

Whether anything of the kind offers even a hope of increasing growth is a problem to put up to your own physician who can determine by seeing and examining you whether there are any indications of ductless gland deficiency in your case. There is no more information or advice I can give on the subject—so don't write me if you're short. I'm short myself.

THE REAL REASON

The summertime has slipped away,
We speak of joys forsaken,
For tell, yet—candidly—we may
Be in ourselves mistaken.

From shore or mountain now we fly.
The city's charm grows greater;
We'd rather do our loathing by
The office radiator.

A series of Dollar Days started Thursday in municipal court. But the judge intimated to the customers that the bargains are nearly at an end. Arterial highways are a community asset that must be paid for to be appreciated.

Seventy-three motorists faced the judge on the arterial highway charge. Most of them asserted that they had "practically" come to a stop. The judge said he could find nothing in the ordinance about a "practical" stop. A "dead" stop was considered sufficient.

Lots of folks who had never seen the judge before made his acquaintance. They probably wish they never will see him again.

Professional dignity and piebald "cackleness" were on common ground at the municipal court Thursday and Friday. Now, try to laugh that off, brother.

Grave Robbers Hurt Research In New Mexico

(Bulletin of The National Geographic Society)

Grave robbers disturbed the resting places of prehistoric Americans just as they despoiled the tombs of the Pharaohs along the Nile. Neil M. Judd, leader of the National Geographic Society's Pueblo Bonito expedition, which is working at Chaco canyon, New Mexico, writes.

"After clearing three more burial chambers we now have 65 skeletons and have solved the riddle of the headless bodies and the disturbed condition of the burials. Prehistoric vandals did the trick.

"Pueblo Bonito—the beautiful village—must have been famous in ancient times, as at present, for the wealth of its primitive jewelry.

"Grave robbers, must likely tribal enemies on riding expeditions, discovered the room burials and stripped the bodies of their turquoise and shell ornaments. In their search they showed a disregard for the dead. Burials were disturbed; portions of the bodies were torn from the remainder and the heads, in most instances placed in a corner or along the walls of the room. Only the deeper burials were left intact. With these we found our better treasures."

The expedition has just completed another successful summer's work in the valley which was the metropolis of pre-Columbian America. In that region Pueblo Bonito, a Chaco Canyon of the American southwest, has yielded remarkable specimens of early Indian art, jewelry, domestic utensils and other paraphernalia of a civilization which, in many of its aspects is as interesting as that of early Egypt or Mesopotamia and which, explorers say, apparently had no connection with old world civilization.

Radio May Hurt Newest Cable

(From The Reading Pa. Tribune)

The famous story of How Cyrus laid the cable has its counterpart in the laying of a new ocean cable by the Western Union Telegraph Co. under the direction of President Newcomb Carlton.

Mr. Carlton had a theory that a more efficient cable could be made of a new metal called permalloy, an alloy of nickel and iron in definite proportions. He doubted it would be so much more effective than a direct cable could be laid all the way from New York to Italy, instead of the usual short jumps and relays. There was no way to tell except to try it, so Mr. Carlton spent $4,000,000 of his company's money laying the cable. The result exceeded expectations. Shorter cables of the old type will carry only 250 to 400 letters a minute. The new cable carries 1,700 letters a minute. The improvement results from the greater magnetic permeability of the new metal—it transmits magnetic waves many times better than soft iron.

All this is very fine, and will lead to more such cables and will result, sooner or later, in cheaper cable trams between America and the other continents. Yet it is not the epoch

Baby's Health

CHILDREN'S BUREAU, U. S. DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

FEEDING THE BABY
(Issued by the Department of Health, New York City, Children's Hygiene Division)

Three Days To Two Weeks
Milk, 1 tablespoon; barley water, 3 tablespoons. Feed the baby 2 tablespoons at first and increase until full amount, 2 ounces, is given at the end of two weeks. Feed baby every two hours.

Two Weeks To Three Months
Milk, 1 ounce; barley water, 2 ounces. Two tablespoons make 1 ounce. Feed the baby this amount every two or three hours. Give only seven to eight feedings in 24 hours.

Three To Six Months
Milk, 3 ounces; barley water, 3 ounces. Feed the baby this amount every three hours. Give only six feedings in 24 hours.

Six To Nine Months
Milk, 6 ounces; barley water, 3 ounces. Feed the baby this amount every four hours. Give only five feedings in 24 hours, last one at 10 o'clock, p. m.

Nine To Twelve Months
Milk, 6 ounces; barley water, 3 ounces. Feed the baby this amount every four hours. Give only five feedings in 24 hours last one at 10 o'clock p. m.

Warm the bottle to about body heat, before giving it to the child, by placing the bottle in a dish of hot water. If the milk is not sweet do not give it to the baby. Wash your hands before touching the nipple. Shake the bottle before using. Never put the nipple in your own mouth to find out whether the milk is warm enough. Try it on your wrist. Hold the baby in your arms while feeding it and do not allow the baby to drink from the bottle onces than 20 minutes. If it does not take the whole feeding, throw it out and do not save it for the next time.

OVERFEEDING

Don't overfeed—Never coax the baby to take more than it wants. Too much food and too frequent feedings overtax the digestion and lead to stomach and intestinal disturbances. This is what makes the baby cry. It cries because it has indigestion from too much food, not because it is hungry. Keep in a cool place. Warm it before giving to the baby. Give as much as it will take between feedings.

AFTER THE ELEVENTH MONTH

What the Baby Can Eat—A well-cooked cereal (farina, cream of wheat, strained oatmeal, etc., cooked three hours) can be given once a day after the 11th month in place of the noonday feeding.

Beef juice with stale bread crumbs, broths or a soft boiled egg can be given in addition to the cereal after the 12th month.

A well-baked potato, boiled rice, rare roast beef, ustad corn starch rice pudding baked apple, apple sauce, stewed prunes and bread and butter can be given after the 15th month.

Mrs. Julius Blaza Wins Cake Contest As Annual Cooking School Closes

One of the most successful cooking schools that the Post-Crescent has ever conducted closed Friday afternoon, with at least 250 women present at the last session. Mrs. Margaret E. Brown, the instructor, demonstrated salads as the final lesson. She gave those who attended free full-sized packages of Lint, a product for starching clothes. The school was conducted in cooperation with the Corn Products Refining company of Chicago and Appleton Merchants.

Mrs. Julius Blaza, 507 Outagamie-st., was awarded first prize in the cake contest, winning a 50-pound sack of Big Jo flour, donated by the S. C. Shannon company, and 6 packages of White Pearl macaroni.

Second place in the contest was given to Mrs. Gertrude Hiebel, 702 Rankin-st., who was awarded two pounds of Chase and Sanborn coffee, donated by Schell Brothers, and six packages of White Pearl macaroni.

Mrs. William Butler, 846 North Division-st., won third place and was given one pound of Chase and Sanborn coffee, also donated by Schell Brothers, and six packages of White Pearl macaroni.

The judges were Mrs. J. L. Wolf, Miss Clara Withuhn, Mrs. Louis Marshall and Mrs. Gustave Keller, Sr. "Fruits and vegetables supply the minerals and vitamins necessary of a balanced diet," Mrs. Brown told the women. "They aid digestion, they are cooling and refreshing, and the food principles which they supply are essential to health. Salads provide a way to use both fruits and vegetables and to employ these food principles. They also give you a way to use leftovers."

Here are Mrs. Brown's recipes for salad dressings:

French Dressing
Three or 5 tablespoons Mazola, 1 tablespoon lemon juice or tarragon vinegar, 1-4 teaspoon paprika, salt, pepper and sugar to taste.

Place all in a bowl and beat or in a bottle and shake well.

Rouquefort cheese may be added to make Rouquefort cheese dressing.

Minute Dressing
One whole egg, 4 tablespoons lemon juice, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon mustard, 1 pint Mazola.

Place in a bowl the egg, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 4 tablespoons Mazola, the salt and mustard. Beat with a dower beater until creamy. Add the rest of the oil, 1-4 cup at a time alternately with the rest of the lemon.

Beat constantly. Can be made in three minutes.

Note: Equal portions of whipped cream can be mixed to make a cream mayonnaise.

Quick Mayonnaise
There are two parts to this dressing, No. 1:

Place in a bowl in order given: Two egg yolks or one whole egg, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, (or vinegar may be omitted and 4 tablespoons of lemon juice used), 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teabest in 1 cup Mazola.

Beat with a dower beater after adding number 2.

No. 2:
Two tablespoons Mazola, 1-3 cup flour, 1 cup water.

Cook until thick and pour white hot into No. 1 and beat. When thick beat in cup Mazola.

If more dressing is desired as much as three quarts Mazola may be beaten into the dressing, but more salt and lemon juice must be added to keep it seasoned right.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

Mrs. Shaw Calls Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a God-Send to Sick Women

Cambridge, Me.—"I suffered terribly with pains and soreness in my sides. Each month I had to go to bed, and the doctor told me I simply had to go under an operation before I could get help. I saw your advertisement in the paper, and I told my husband one day to get me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Before I took the third dose I felt better. I took it four times a day for two years, getting better all the time, and now for four years I don't have any pains. After taking the medicine for two years I had another child—a lovely baby girl now four years old—the life of our home. I do praise this medicine. It is a Godsend to women who suffer with female troubles and especially for pains at the periods. I surely was very bad once, and I know that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved me from an operation."—Mrs. JOSIE M. SHAW, Route No. 1, Cambridge, Maine.

A country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound reports 98 out of every 100 were benefited by it.

Neenah—More than a dozen automobiles with wooden boxes filled with young pigs strapped to their sides passed through Neenah Saturday morning over highway 15 on their way to the monthly fair at Appleton.
Practically all of them were Winnebago-co farmers. The fair has gained a reputation all over the state as a market place for young pigs and the principal buyers are located at Whitewater. More than 2,000 pigs change hands each fair day.

PETTIBONE AD LARGEST EVER PRINTED IN VALLEY

Today's Appleton Post-Crescent

in the state.

The huge announcement is made to call attention to departmental is the most important change in the company's store arrangement in more

The advertisements call attention to a large rearrangement of depart-

new departments, some of which will be located downstairs.

There will be a "bargain court" downstairs and the remainder of the space will be taken by a new bedding department, domestic department, electrical department, china and glassware department, mens' and boys' furnishing department and an all year toy section.

This $2770 Paige Gives You $4000-Car Advantages!

What are $4000-car advantages? Size and comfort for one thing. You expect a big car for that money. Size—wheelbase—adds to riding comfort as well as appearance. You look for long springs and roomy, deep cushioned seats.

Big power is another thing you get in a $4000 car. Ability to meet any performance situation without straining. You expect it to last long. To stand up for years. And you count on relief from mechanical upkeep.

You are right to expect these advantages.
But now you need not pay $4000 for them!
Read below how Paige—for $2770—offers these selfsame advantages. Here are facts:

Size and Comfort

Paige makes fun of detours—casts driving limits aside! Why?
It's long—131-inch wheelbase.
Paige's rear springs are more than 5 feet long. Snubbers all 'round.

You cannot buy finer spring suspension! And for an inch or two more of wheelbase that a few others have you must pay $178 to $1090 more an inch!
Several cars costing hundreds more than Paige are smaller!

Power and Performance

Paige's big 70 h. p. six-cylinder motor is more than ample for any job. Its size means un-strained power—hence long life. It means ability to climb hills in high that stall most others. Outstrip them on the straightaway. Throttle down to 2 miles an hour in high—then "get away" first. Finer performance is not to be had!

To equal Paige's 331.4 cu. in.
piston displacement in so fine
a car costs close to $1000 more!

Long Life and Economy

You expect a $4000 car to stand up season after season. You may confidently expect the $2770 Paige to do the same!
Paige's weight—4300 lbs.—indicates its staunchness. Running expense is remarkably low —far lower than most other big cars of the same advantages.
Mechanical expense is long-postponed—thanks to fineness
of materials and construction.
The Paige is built for 100,000 miles of care-free service.

What other advantages can a $4000 car offer you? Check up on what higher priced cars give. Then check up Paige. For only $2770 you may now enjoy all the big power and fine performance, the size and comfort, the long life, of far higher-priced cars.

Drive the Paige. Put it to your own tests.
See how it measures up—excels most—in every point. Telephone or come in today for a demonstration.

Included at this price, equipment as follows: Five cord tires; trunk rack; double spring bar humpers; snubbers; heater;

CITIES NOT KEEN ANY MORE FOR BUSY TOURIST HIGHWAYS

Chicago Motor Club Engineer Suggests Richmond-st Outlet for Traffic

Cities are getting over their scrambling, jealousy and bitter fighting to have important state or national highways passing through their limits now that the handling of traffic has become such a serious problem, declares John Graham, field engineer of Chicago Motor club, who spent Friday in the city.

He believes that highway building in the future in Wisconsin should be conducted entirely by the state and also sees where a gasoline tax might be of advantage in bringing immediate revenue for much needed traffic aids.

Mr. Graham stopped in Appleton to ascertain what changes will take place in the routing of state highways after Cherry-st bridge is opened to traffic. The new bridge probably will not be shown in the motor club tourist guide maps until the permanent routing has been decided by the state.

TOURS WHOLE COUNTRY
The engineer travels all over the United States, making a personal inspection of each tourist route before it is listed in the Chicago Motor club's literature, or before its information bureau will recommend that way to tourists. The club's work has become recognized everywhere and its offices in Chicago are one of the chief centers of inquiry by people who are making trips outside their own locality or state.

Change in the attitude of business men as to clamoring for much used traffic routes was described by Mr. Graham when he was told that Appleton was considering rerouting of highway 15 over Cherry-st bridge and east on College-ave to Oneida or Rankin-sts. He said a wiser plan would be to route this highway and No. 41 straight north on Cherry and Richmond-sts to Second-ave and then out of the city.

"I know of towns that have spent thousands of dollars to bring important highways through their business section," said the engineer, and they would give as much now if the routing could be removed. The traffic is increasing so tremendously that a city is better off without the tourist automobiles cluttering its streets and taking up parking place that belongs to steady patrons of local merchants. Usually a city puts up a big fight to get a highway or to keep one it has, but after it is moved elsewhere it people never miss the traffic because there seems to be something else to take its place."

NEED STATE CONTROL
Several states have taken the highway building control out of the hands of the counties and are spending millions on paved tourist highways that touch no cities whatever, according to Mr. Graham. In Missouri, for instance, a new highway does not come within a mile of any city. If the municipality wants to build a road out to meet the main thoroughfare, it can do so, otherwise the traffic will pass it by. It is recognized that this is the only way to handle the tourist horde.

Gasoline taxes perhaps are desirable, if all the money they produce will be used for roadbuilding and traffic improvements, said the engineer. The motorist really is taxed for all he can stand now but he wouldn't mind paying a gas tax if he knew he some day would get the benefit. A tax plan that exempts the farmer who buys gasoline for his tractor or other machinery will not be a success, however. Farmers never will buy anything but "tractor gas" as long as there is a tax to pay. The way some states satisfy the farmer as to the justice of a gasoline tax is to appropriate a part of the revenue for the improvement of secondary country roads. Tourists will pay for a goodly share of the roads in this state if the gas tax is enacted, said Mr. Graham because of the thousands of foreign cars that come here every year.

Wisconsin has done splendidly with its road building program, in the opinion of the engineer, and he has found few places deserving of more praise. However, it is the time the state took over the entire road construction program and conducted the work itself. Now the paving is done piecemeal and a portion of it on highways that do not have extensive usage. The state could pave where most needed, and in long stretches each year if it were given the control. Illinois is doing her road building that way, he said, and the highways are placed where they will serve the traffic best, not where the various localities want them. A state bond issue ought to be put over and a definite program mapped out.

TWO MEN LEARN TO MAKE SALADS IN NIGHT SCHOOL

Stenographers, clerks, teachers and housewives are all represented in the popular evening school classes in salad making held at the vocational school under the direction of Mrs. Misses Mabel Burke and Christine Dohr. One of the classes contains two men students whose work compares favorably with that of the women. The entire enrollment of the classes is 42 students.

Fruit, vegetables, fish and molded salads have been made by these classes and at present they are working on meat salads. The salads are divided into groups, those working with boiled dressings, mayonnaise dressings, French dressings, etc. Six lessons complete the salad course, after which the meat course will be given.

Flashes Out Of The Air

There were a lot of disappointed Democrat in Appleton Friday night when they were unable to see WLW, Cincinnati, which had announced it would broadcast a talk by John W. Davis, Democratic candidate for president. WLW was not on the air Friday night.

The new radio station, WJJD, at Mooseheart, Ill., was on the air with a tryout concert Friday night. This 500-watt station, named in honor of James J. Davis, secretary of labor, will operate at a wave length of 276 meters and is to be officially opened on Monday, Oct. 27. Programs will be broadcast from Mooseheart and from Chicago.

Mr. Davis was on the air with an address from WJAR at Philadelphia Friday night. He pointed out the benefits of the Coolidge administration illustrating what it had done by referring to the work of his own department.

The air Saturday afternoon was full of football. W.N. Chicago radio-cast the Michigan-Wisconsin game. KTV gave a play by play report of the Chicago-Gibbs battle, WGY and WEA sent out reports on Princeton and Notre Dame, and WVBZ broadcast the Harvard-Dartmouth battle.

Another station in New York goes on the air Sunday night. It will be known as WGBS and is to be operated by Gimble Brothers.

KDEA is scheduled to put a band concert on the air at 7:30 Saturday night. This powerful station has put on some very pleasing program the last few days.

Something unusual for WMC, Memphis "Gospel in Dixie" has been announced for Saturday night. This station will broadcast a program of operatic selections beginning at 8 o'clock.

ESCAPED INMATE OF TAYCHEEDAH IS FOUND AT KAUKAUNA

Girl Walked All Day and All Night After Ankle Is Sprained

After walking from the Wisconsin Industrial Home for Women at Taycheedah, from which she escaped Thursday night, to Kaukauna, with her ankle sprained and swollen to twice its normal size, Marie West, 19, was taken into custody at Kaukauna Friday an is to be returned to the institution. Miss West was sent to the home less than two weeks ago. She was held in the county jail here until Saturday afternoon.

Although she was in great pain as the result of a fall while escaping from her room in the institution, the girl walked almost continuously to go to relatives at Kaukauna. She stopped at farmhouse near Chilton, where her ankle was bathed, and then continued on her journey. The girl escaped from her room, which also was occupied by two other girls, by making a rope of bed sheets. The rope broke as she was letting herself out of the window and she fell to the ground, spraining her ankle. In spite of the pain she continued her escape, walking the remainder of the night and most of the next day.

It was believed the girl would attempt to reach relatives at Kaukauna and police in that city were asked to watch for her. She said Friday that she did not have help in escaping and declared that her two roommates were not awakened when she went through the window which does not have bars.

FREEDOM ROADS IN GOOD CONDITION

Roads on Rural Route No. 6, over which Carrier Arnold J. Fetting delivers mail, were found by Postmaster William H. Zuchke to be in fairly good condition, who is making his semi-annual inspection of rural routes.

The route extends east on the Little Chute-Ed and covers considerable territory in the town of Freedom. It has more patrons than any other Appleton route, partly owing to the close settlements on the Grand Chute portion of Second-ave and along the Little Chute-Ed.

Although the roads are quite satisfactory and show good maintenance work, weeds have been allowed to grow up in some places without receiving much attention from those who are responsible for their removal, it was said.

RASEY SPEAKS AT JOINT MEETING OF LIONS CLUBS

About 20 couples will attend the joint meeting of the Lions club of Fond du Lac, Oshkosh and Appleton at 6:30 Monday evening at the Oshkosh Yacht club, Oshkosh. Lee C. Rasey, principal of Appleton high school, will address the meeting, and dancing will follow the banquet.

INVITATIONS FOR FARM-CITY DINNER ISSUED BY C. OF C.

Those Attending Big Annual Gathering Asked to Reserve
Places in Advance

Invitations have been mailed out to a large number of farmers by the chamber of commerce for the second annual get-together dinner of business men of the city and farm at Elk Hall on Monday evening, Nov. 3. Each person is asked to return the reservation card attached so a place will be reserved for him at the dinner.

All farmers of the community are being invited, as many as possible by direct invitation. The chamber realizes, however, that some may not receive the printed invitation but asks them to consider the newspaper announcement as sufficient urge to attend. The only requirement is that they notify the chamber of commerce by telephone or mail that they will be present. The dinner is free to the farmers.

It is expected the attendance will be so large that children cannot be provided for. Farmers therefore are asked to reserve plates only for their wives and grownup members of the family. No places will be set aside after Saturday, Nov. 1.

This year's program is expected to be an excellent one. Burt Williams, one of the most popular speakers of the midwest and a disciple of Wisconsin's rural upbuilding, will address the meeting on the subject of "Tying City and Country Together." A message wreathed in smiles will come from John Seaman Gurnes of Minneapolis, a former Appleton man who has become a prominent humorist. Community singing and other entertainment also will be provided.

SHERIFF HOLDS ONE OF TWO MEN WANTED FOR ONEIDA THEFT

Clifton Nabbsfeld in Jail While Police Seek Alleged Accomplice

Sheriff Otto H. Zuehlke is holding one of a duo of alleged burglars who are said to have pilfered the farm home of Jacob Rockenbach, town of Oneida, Wednesday. The man in jail is Clifton Nabbsfeld, whose arraignment in municipal court was expected to take place Friday afternoon. The man's suspected accomplice is a man named Nash who is believed to have escaped to Iowa. At any rate, when Undersheriff Otto Wickert went out to Oneida, Friday morning to arrest the man, Nash was nowhere to be found.

The Rockenbach home which was broken into is about 817 in cash a watch and other valuables. The alleged burglary followed closely after an altercation between Nash and some of his neighbors over a lumber transaction. It is said that Nash stood off the neighbors with a gun, but when his opponents threatened to get the sheriff he settled with them for the value of the lumber. Nash made his abode in a cabin, which is hidden in a wood some distance from the road, and the authorities suspect that he used this retreat for bootlegging purposes. Nash's former home is Chicago, but he married a Freedom girl, Nabbsfeld is Nash's brother-in-law.

HEALTH WORK IS PLAY FOR CHILDREN

Rural Nurse Uses Novel Method to Maintain Youngster's Interest

Care of one's health has become a game to most pupils of rural schools in the country, and the playing of this game is causing considerable competition among them, as the result of a practice introduced in the schools by Miss Marie Klein, county nurse.

When the county nurse visits a school she not only examines the pupils, but also gives talks and health demonstrations. One of her illustrative methods is the rebuilding of a mythical health fairy's house which has been destroyed by disease. Pupils of a school are divided into groups commissioned to rebuild different units of the house. For each health habit practiced daily by every member of the group, that group is allowed to place one stone or brick in the structure.

Credits are given for the following health habits: A bath at least once a week; regular change of undergarments; brushing of teeth twice a day; drinking of at least four glasses of water a day; a quantity of milk; eating of fruit and vegetables daily; playing outdoors; sleeping in a room with open windows; standing and sitting straight.

Children also obtain a better insight into the value of health by the comparison of an automobile with the human body, according to Miss Klein. As the automobile needs fuel, so the body needs food to produce heat and energy. The food must be clean and wholesome, and must be received in sufficient amount, lest like an automobile, it fail to make the grade. The heart is likened to the engine, and the teeth to the spark plugs which must be kept clean. The eyes are the headlights and must be kept in good condition. Like the car, the human body is in need of water, and air, and its parts must be kept clean.

Currie, vice chancellor of McGill university, Montreal; Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university; Gen. M. W. ## Pioneer Couple Lived On Squirrels And Deer In Early Bear Creek Days

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Bear Creek—One of the few surviving civil war veterans in this locality is Richard Thorn, who with his wife is counted among the pioneer families of the village of Bear Creek. They lived here at a time when their food was mostly squirrels and deer meat and corn ground by hand.

Marriage of the couple took place in April, 1866, at Baraboo, just after Mr. Thorn had returned from service in the Civil war. He was at Reedsburg at the time and his bride was at Baraboo. Mr. and Mrs. Thorn came to Bear Creek and have lived here for 60 years.

Their first home was a log cabin without windows. The gable ends were not fastened, and owls would fly in and out. There were no roads at that time—just trails and the people carried flour on their backs from New London ten miles away. Indians often came to their home bringing for food.

ATE SQUIRRELS
Gray squirrels which the family killed in the woods were the chief meat fare. There was a ravine between the house and woods where deer came to get water in flytime and Mr. Thorn often succeeded in shooting one, thus providing venison for the family larder.

Corn was used liberally for food. It was crushed with an iron mallet, the fine meal was used for Johnny cake and the coarser ingredients for pudding.

Mrs. Thorn says she did not know what a clothesline was at that time, as clothing were hung on the bushes to dry. Ironing was not done as nobody knew what a flatiron was. Mr. Thorn was born in Alexander, N. Y., Feb. 20, 1842 and therefore is 82 years old. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Thorn of New York. He came with his parents to Reedsburg in early life and enlisted there with the Nineteenth Wisconsin regiment in the Civil war. He served for three years and ten months and received one wound, a shot in the left hand.

Batley Corners Farmer Raises 12 Heads of Cabbage on one Plant.

If Charles Fredericks, Route 4, Appleton, could market his cabbage on the basis of so much per head, he might be in a position to make twelve times as much from his cabbage than the other cabbage growers received. But Mr. Fredericks will tell you that it was purely an accident when he raised twelve heads from one plant on his Mackville-rd farm near Batleys Corners.

This freak of nature, which Mr. Fredericks sent to the Post-Crescent office in support of his story, is about the size of an ordinary cabbage head, but is divided into twelve small heads all clustered about one another, some of them being about the size of a teacup. All of them are solid and perfectly fit for table use.

Heiderer And Cawley Arrive Here To Meet In Main Bout, Oct. 28

Newcomer from Pacific Coast Substituted for McDonogh in Opener With Earl Rogers

Johnny Heiderer and Jimmy Cawley, headliners on the fight card at Armory G here on Oct. 28, both arrived here Saturday after examination by the state athletic commission in Milwaukee, and both are in the best of condition for their coming battle. Cawley seems to have the edge on paper, but Heiderer, the Butternut flash, is determined to climb another step toward the top of the ladder, and there is bound to be plenty of action when these two lightweight champions meet.

The entire card looks exceptionally good. Many fans throughout the valley are interested just as deeply in the preliminaries as in the wind-up. Battling Herb of Oshkosh who meets Jake Lang in the semi-win-up has won himself a legion of admirers by his grit and speed, and will bring a large delegation from his home town.

Kaukauna will be out in full force to see "Wassie" Hendricks do his stuff with Battling Beck, a rising star of Fond du Lac. Hendricks rapidly is replacing Zwick in the hearts of Electric City fight enthusiasts. His style of fighting is similar to the Kaukauna "Sheik" from whom he learned much of the game, but he is more popular here than his mentor.

A change has been made in the opener. Earl Rogers had been signed to meet Paddy McDonogh, but Paddy has been taken off and Kid Knocko, a newcomer in this city, substituted. The kid has had some experience on the Pacific coast and looks like a comer in training. He is more experienced than Rogers, but Earl has been working hard for months and has never been in better shape.

Tickets have been placed on sale at Beilings drugstore, Miller and Rule and Myers and Jones, and are going fast.

APPLETON EAGLES SEE OSHKOSH CARD

White of Sawdust City Fights
Milwaukee Man to Draw
in Windup

Oshkosh — In the Oshkosh circle of Eagles' private boxing card at the Armory Thursday evening staged through the courtesy of the American legion boxing association, in which Oshkosh was host to Eagles of the Fox River valley, the windup was an eight round nip and tuck battle between White of this city and Zaliec of Milwaukee.

Eagles were in attendance from Appleton, Fond du Lac, Neenah, Menasha, Kaukauna, Elgin and Berlin, with a good sized delegation from Milwaukee. In the neighborhood of 1,200 were present.

White, a popular Oshkosh fighter in ring days of old, made the grade Thursday night and staged a beautiful comeback against a tough opponent, Zaliec of Milwaukee. Neither fighter had any great amount on the other and close followers of the game declared it to be a good draw.

In the semi-win-up Hopfinger carried the fight to McDonogh all the time and earned his decision. McDonogh had a tendency to clinch at every turn which slowed the fight up considerably. Hopfinger shows lots of promise.

Young Shaw looks to be like a real comer. He polished off Schuster in quick style. Shaw packs a mean wallop and is clever with his mitts. Balkley and Hutchins fought an even battle until the closing round, when Balkley had Hutchins all but out. The battle was stopped.

WOLVERINES MEET BADGERS ELEVENTH TIME IN HISTORY

Wisconsin Squad Depressed by Untimely Death of One of Its Members

Ann Arbor, Mich.—The traditions, Wolverine and Badger meet at Ferry field here Saturday in the eleventh encounter between the two. Wisconsin is represented by a team sobered by a tragedy which entered its ranks just before the squad left Madison for Ann Arbor, while Michigan is represented with an eleven remade since last week's defeat at the hands of Grange and the Illini.

Followers of the two teams here for the game recall vividly the bitter contest between the two teams last year at Madison. After Wisconsin had taken a 3 to 0 lead early in the game, Rockwell, through a trick of fates and after the Badger team members thought him down, raced across the goal line for a touchdown which clinched a 6 to 3 victory for the Wolverines. Far from forgetting that event, Wisconsin Saturday seeks to avenge the defeat.

Numerous shifts have been made in the Michigan lineup this week in preparation for the game. Capt. Herb Steger starts at quarterback while Rockwell has been shifted to half. Brownell, Gregory or Barker were in line for the other halfback. Stannion has been working at fullback and was to start in that position. Miller also was in line for full.

Wisconsin's lineup was virtually the same as that which started against Minnesota last week and played so brilliantly in the first half. Larson was at quarter, Capt. Harris and D. Harmon at half and Leo Harmon at fullback. Harris and Doyle Harmon probably will be relieved during the game by Anderson and Williams. The line also was similar to that which started last week. Srauhel was slated to start at one tackle in place of Schwere, 260-pounder. Long had a chance to get at the toes at right end in Blackman.

Gibbons Puts Jamieson To Sleep In One

By Associated Press
New Orleans, La.—It took Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul heavyweight, just one minute and a half to dispose of Ted Jamieson, light heavyweight of Milwaukee, in their scheduled 12 round bout here Friday night.

A left hook to the jaw a few seconds after the start of the first round had Jamieson in trouble. Gibbons quickly followed up his advantage with several lightning-like blows to the body and a left to the chin, which sent the Milwaukee fighter to his knees. Jamieson staggered to his feet at the count of nine only to get in the way of a hard right uppercut which caught him flush on the chin and sent him to the canvas for the final count. Jamieson landed only a few blows during the brief bout.

Gibbons weighed 175 pounds and Jamieson 166.

Minneapolis—Martin Burke, New Orleans heavyweight, was given a newspaper decision over Quintin Romero-Rojas of Chile in ten rounds.

CHICAGO CONTEST WITH OHIO STATE FEATURES BIG TEN

Championship Aspirations of Conference Hinge on Saturday's Games

Chicago—"What can Chicago do against Ohio State?" is a universal question conference query Saturday as the teams meet in Columbus to decide the Maroon's chances in the football title race against the favorite, Illini.

Involved also in the melee is Ohio's record of not having its goal crossed this season. Chicago's conference slate is unimpaired but in preliminaries the Staggers lost to Missouri and were scored on by Brown.

The Maroon offense is the strongest of the season and the defense is groomed to break up the puzzling forward passes in which the Buckeyes are adept. Since the scoreless tie with Iowa, Coach Wiley has stressed the tosser from running formations preceded by a fake punt.

Of nearly equal interest are the engagements of Wisconsin and Michigan at Ann Arbor and the homecoming struggle between Minnesota and Iowa at Iowa City. Illinois and Northwestern play non-conference games and Indiana and Purdue are on vacation.

A desperate contest is promised before the homecoming crowds at Iowa City in the Minnesota-Iowa meeting. Both have the games to their credit. Iowa's scoreless struggle with Ohio States and the Gophers, a 7 to 7 tie with Wisconsin.

The outcome means championship consideration for the victor in event the combat for the crown leaves no teams with clean records. Illinois plans practice for its reserves in its entertainment of De Pauw at Urbana. Northwestern has a sturdy opponent in the Michigan Aggies, who held Michigan to one touchdown. The Purple considers the game the paring of the ways, a victory meaning a revival of hope during the forthcoming conference bouts and a defeat darkening the gloom that has fallen since the Purdue victory last week.

POLITICAL NOTES

THE Illegitimate Dilemma straw vote indicates a return to Democracy with Republican amendments and Independent objections.

The Bozo Buzo today predicted editorially a sweeping victory for Hoover candidates at the polls, both north and south.

Col. Milkweed said he heard a rousing speech on the tariff and other governmental travesties at the town hall last night, but some one had to rouse him to hear it.

G. O. P. leaders are launching a campaign to divorce bribery from politics. "Tax payers will be confusing us with bull players if we don't," they yell out.

Mr. Gessum Wright, oracle of Arsonic Camers, is picking La Follette to win. "It will be remembered that Mr. Wright was one of the first persons in this country to pick the Al-Les to win the war."

In urging a return to backless up-handuffed eye-brows, and the gutta percha golf ball, the Darry flash today endorsed the following platform:

Restoration of eight-hour working day.

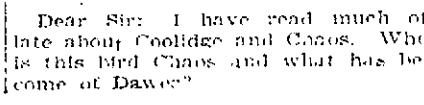

Elimination of cobwebs and other foreign substances from hair.

Deportation of parrot rattleskulls who say, "Now stop me if you've heard this one."

Execution without delay of young fathers who persist in showing pictures of Junior entering in kitchen sink or hanging from chandelier by little finger.

There has been a sharp decline in child slavery in this country since 1910 and the Weekly Whoop thinks this may be logically ascribed to birth control.

What this country needs most, agree the Bryan brothers, is a good

BLUE SQUAD GETS ROUSING SENDOFF TO RIPON BATTLE

Hundreds of Students and Alumni Crowd About
Special Train

Hundreds of Lawrence rooters Friday morning crowded the station platform here to see the football team off on its journey to Ripon where the Blues engage the Ripon eleven in a grid contest which is the main feature of the Crimson homecoming. A special train was chartered and every seat had been signed for Friday night, which assured the Blues of strong support on their invasion. Many alumni accompanied the student delegation in expectation of seeing their alma mater treat its ancient enemy to a thorough defeat.

Coach Mark Carlin took more than 20 of his candidates with him on the trip and planned to give every man a chance to get into the game. Lawrence was considered a heavy favorite and it was expected that most of the second and third string men would be sent in during the contest.

Meanwhile "Lay Lawrence Low," the Ripon battle cry, was cheering the Crimson gridgers on to their form hope, and a torchlight parade through the city Friday night kept the Ripon citizens awake long after dark. A gridraph has been erected in Ripon which shows the progress of the game, play for play, and every arrangement had been made to insure the success of the annual celebration. Ripon is known for its intense enthusiasm, and although the Lawrenceans were conceded a big handicap in the game they expected a hard contest.

The loss of four regulars from the Blue lineup made the outlook a bit more favorable for the Crimson, but the substitutes sent in by Carlin were expected to show up in fine shape.

HOPPE SCORES HIGH IN THREE-CUSHION MATCH

Chicago — Willie Hoppe, 15.2 ball line champion, proved himself as much a master of three cushion billiards as of ball line by winning every block of his 400-point match with Augie Kleckhefer, former angle game champion, 100 to 279, in 394 innings. Hoppe took Friday's final block by scores of 50 to 26 in 53 innings and 50 to 45 in 40 innings.

Besides averaging better than one an inning, Hoppe made a high run of 14, within four of the mark held by Pierre Maupome and Charley morin.

OLYMPIC PINSMASHERS
PLAN SIX-CLUB LEAGUE

Olympic alleys bowlers plan to organize a six-team league this year with practically the same crews who were in the wheel last season, and have made arrangements to start crashing the pins Tuesday. Members of the various teams will meet before the opening day at the Olympic alleys to complete arrangements, and elect officers. It is planned to arrange the matches for Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights.

Open Race Next Year, Sisler Says

St. Louis—Despite the fact that Washington won the American league pennant and the world championship in 1924, Manager George Sisler of the St. Louis Browns says the Senators will have their troubles repeating.

"The teams in the American league are so very evenly matched that any club in the circuit with a little strengthening would be in a position to win next year," says Sisler.

"I regard New York, Detroit and St. Louis as inherently stronger than Washington, yet the Nationals beat all three to the wire."

"The Nervous Wreck"

By E. J. Rath

Copyright 1924 by NEA Service Inc.

There was a smothered exclamation from the Wreck, who went to the flivver to investigate. The rear compartment, where baggage was usually stored, was never locked and he lifted up the lid and thrust a head inside. He could feel something under an old piece of tarpaulin that he had used at odd times for a tent. It was the wheel.

As he heaved it into view it angered him to think of the hours he had spent in searching. "Get it!" called Sally. "Yep. Keep him there until I light the lantern."

The lantern lighted, he placed it in a far corner of the tool-shed, where it would throw an illumination light on the work he had to do. "Bring him inside," ordered the Wreck.

Chester, with Sally following, walked into the shed and the Wreck closed the door behind him. He motioned Chester to a place against the wall. "Keep the gun on him," he told Sally. "I'll be through in five minutes."

It took less than two minutes to slide a jack under the front axle, lift it and kick the soap-box aside. He slipped the wheel into place, adjusted the lock nut, carefully inserted the cotter pin and spread the ends. When the hub cap was screwed on and the jack removed, the flivver stood on four wheels again.

"You wait till they get you for this," said Chester, grimly. The Wreck laughed, threw back the door and began rolling the flivver into the open. He did not dare to start the motor. He tied Chester's feet together.

"We're going to lock you in here," he said. "You're lucky it's no worse. We're not going away just yet. One of us will be outside. If you do any yelling, I'll come back and gag you. Maybe I'll shoot you. I don't know which. Come on, Sally."

She joined him outside and watched him close the door of the shed and slip the padlock into place. He had already extinguished the lantern.

"If he hollers," said the Wreck, loud enough to be heard within the shed, "shoot through the door."

He winked as he spoke, then hurried off in the direction of the ranch house, leaving Sally to stand guard, with the gun in her hand.

There was still slight in one of the upper windows and he moved as cautiously as possible as he neared the house. He remembered exactly where a ladder lay, alongside the wall, and went directly to it. Carrying it to a corner of the building and raising it, he rested it gently against the eaves. Then he mounted cautiously. Nearing the eaves, he groped overhead, found something with his fingers, then reached into a hip pocket. The jaw of the pliers were sharp and the telephone wire parted with a drumming sound.

The Wreck did not wait to learn whether anyone was near, but slid down the ladder and hurried away. Twenty yards distant from the house he began groping in the grass and presently found what he sought. As he began walking again he was coiling wire in his hands. The telephone line, until it reached the spruce several hundred yards distant, was strung on a row of poles. He followed it as far as the first pole, cut the wire again, then hurried in the direction of the tool-shed, with the coil over his arm.

Sally, nervous at the delay and not understanding the cause of it, was standing guard at the door. Without a word of explanation, he tossed the coiled wire into the bottom of the car.

"Now help push," he said, in a low voice. "I don't want to wake the dead unless I have to."

Together, they got the flivver into reluctant motion. Without her, the Wreck would not have essayed the task for it would have been far too slow; but Sally was strong, and between them they got the machine moving at a fair walking pace. Fifty yards distant from the shed they cut into the wagon tracks that marked the trail, and for a while the going was somewhat easier.

"Keep heaving at it," he said, to encourage her. "I am," panted Sally. They were some two hundred yards from the ranch house when the flivver began to encounter a slight upgrade. It seemed to become suddenly heavy. Presently, despite their utmost efforts it came to a stop.

"Good enough," gasped the Wreck. "Climb in."

She was in the seat when he laid hold of the crank. The first half dozen pulls brought no response. He paused an instant to recover breath, then set his teeth and wanked again. There was a furious billow from beneath the hood and the flivver quivered like a frightened horse.

"Better hurry," urged Sally, with an anxious look toward the house. He was leaping into the seat as she spoke, advancing the gas lever until the flivver roared and trembled apprehensively. Then the lights switched on and the car plumed forward, up the grade toward the sheltering spruce.

In a minute they made the turn that shut the house from view. The road became winding, but he did not permit the fact to interfere with speed. Sally held fast to the seat trying to realize that they were actually in flight. She knew better than to offer a word of caution; when the Wreck was driving he resented suggestion. Besides, she was just as anxious as he to put distance between the flivver and the ranch.

After a mile of going he brought the car to a sudden stop and leaped out, leaving the engine running. She saw him rush off among the low trees and thought for half a minute that he must have lost his mind. Then she caught sight of his figure outlined against the moonlit sky. It was perched at the top of a slender pole that rose above the tree-tops. Before she could conjecture what he was doing, he slid from sight again. Bursting back into the trail, he swung aboard again and they were off.

"Just wanted to cut the wire some more," he said, between gasps. "Makes it a little harder for 'em." "You'd better not waste much time cutting wire," she warned him, with another look backward. "Why not, Mrs. Loc?"

"They're probably got the big car out now."

He reached into the pocket of his coat and drew forth something that fell clinking into her lap. She picked up two metallic objects and tried to examine them in the dim light.

"That are they?" she asked. "One of 'em's an intake valve, the other's an exhaust. Timothy's been grinding them."

"And they can't run the car?" "Not particularly," said the Wreck. "And how are you going to get them back to Timothy?"

He took them from her hands and tossed them into the bushes at the side of the trail.

"Let 'em send to New York for new valves," he answered, in a tone of savage satisfaction. "They expect to stay a month, don't they?"

"You're only plugging trouble for yourself, Henry Williams."

"None. Only playing safe." And to emphasize the safety of his play, he stopped the flivver again and ascended another pole, from which he cut the wires with two vicious snaps of his pliers.

"Don't forget they can make time over this trail with a horse," said Sally. "If I were you I'd keep moving."

"I hid the saddles," said the Wreck, grinning. "You what?"

"Took all the saddles and bridles and carried them out back of the corral. Dumped them into a gully. They won't find them till morning, anyhow."

As the broad scope of his precautions to forestall pursuit dawned upon her, Sally experienced a feeling of awe and admiration. She already knew that he had a way of doing things on impulse; but it was a discovery to learn that the Wreck could be coldly calculating.

"In that case," she said, "you might slow down a little until we reach the main road. There's no use breaking our necks until we get off the Underwood property."

He adopted the suggestion and drove more slowly, although he did it with reluctance. He had a sort of affection for the dusty flivver, and the touch of the steering wheel inspired him. He was in a mood to make the machine fly, if it would.

A third time he dismounted, as they reached the end of the private road, and threw open the gate. He even took the trouble to close it, after they passed through. Then, once more taking the wheel he looked at Sally. The main road lay just in front of them, running at right angles.

"Which way?" he demanded. "I suppose your headed for the train, aren't you?"

CHAPTER XVIII
The Wreck Supplies a Cook

Sally was not certain whether she was headed for the train or the Barn. She had not attempted to plan anything beyond the getaway, which loomed so large in her vision that it locked off any glimpse at the future. But now she was confronted with the need to make a decision. She had no desire to go to Chicago. She was not in a mood to contemplate the purchase of a trousseau. She had certain annoying opinions on the subject of good cooks and they persisted in thrusting themselves into the problem.

Etiquette Is Vehicle For Kind Action

BY EVANGELINE WEED
Director of Personality Institute, Boston

People desire naturally to conform in speech and action to the usages required by customs or society. Good manners are considered so important in all human contact that a great deal of thought is now given to acquiring certain familiarity with established rules.

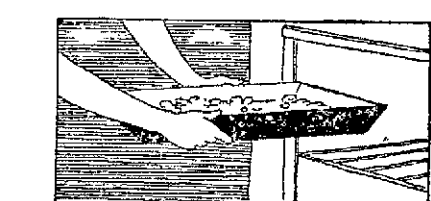

Everybody may acquire good manners and enjoy the peace and confidence that are its accompaniments. One must remember, too, that etiquette is never misdirected; your inferiors deserve it as well as your equals and superiors.

1. What is the direct effect of politeness to others? The respect and admiration of others for you; your politeness puts others at their ease.
2. Effect upon yourself? It gives a serene poise, an inner spirit of freedom.
3. The secret of acquiring it? By observing others, and trying to have common sense who are correct. To learn a few social tricks from modern etiquette book, but you must best to apply them by watching other people, by attending to higher grade movies to see society dramas, and by reading novels.
4. What is the fundamental of etiquette? Nothing less than human kindness. If it is a mere matter of form it is but a sham and not desirable. Etiquette is a vehicle for kindness. But remember, that etiquette does not mean either constant formality or undue deference. One can't hold to parlor niceties in camp nor can one inject the brotherly etiquette of camp life into the parlor.

BETTER PIE CRUST
The soaked undercrust, which spoils so many pies can be avoided if you rest the pie in a shallow dish until the pie is cool instead of setting it directly on the table.

TO PRESS CHIFFON
After you have laundered chiffon.

press it with a warm, not hot, iron while it is still damp.

GREASE DISHES WELL
Grease well the dishes in which you bake cakes or puddings in which there is molasses, as molasses soaks much more easily than sugar.

BETTER FRIED MUSH
Slices of mush that are dipped in white of egg before frying are much crispier and browner than those fried in the ordinary way.

Adventures Of The Twins

THE HOUSE THAT JACK BUILT
The Twins woke up one morning to find a little note pinned to their pillow.

It said:
"Dear Children:
"What do you think? Someone stole the House That Jack Built. Packed it right up where it stood on Pippin Hill and walked off with it."

"No one has seen it since the night of Jack and Jill's party when Mrs. John, Jack's mother, lost her elder and ples in the dumb-waiter.

"Next morning when Jack and Jill had gone down the hill, and Mrs. John had gone to market, someone took it. When they came back the house was as gone as yesterday.

"Will you go and help them to hunt for it? Ever since you found the lost sleepy sand at the bottom of the sea, people think you are too smart for anything. I haven't time to go because I'm busy showing my ground fairies how to stack up moss and dirt around plants so that Jack Frost cannot hurt them this winter.

"Do go and help Jack if you can, because if he doesn't find his house before winter, I don't know what he and his mother and sister will do."

"The magic shoes are under your bed. Put them on and you will find yourselves on Pippin Hill at once."

Lovingly yours
"The Fairy Queen."

"Jimenezers!" cried Nick. "I should say we would go!"

And he sprang out of bed and into his clothes and slipped on the magic shoes.

And Nancy sprang out of her little bed and did the same thing. I mean she put on her clothes and her shoes! Not Nick's.

And as truly as I tell you, didn't they find themselves right on the top of Pippin Hill where all the apple-trees grew.

But alas and alack!
Where Jack's fine new house had stood only the day before, nothing was left but the cellar.

The were Mrs. John's washing tubs and her butter-crocks and her preserves, and her step-ladder, and her clothes-props, which she had brought in in case of rain, and her elder-barrel, and her winter-apples, and her sack of potatoes in everything.

Everything to keep house with but no home to live in.

It was a dreadful state of affairs! There was Jack and there was Jill and there was Mrs. John looking as though the world had come to a sudden end.

"What do you suppose could have happened?" said Nancy.

Jack and Jill and Mrs. John looked so surprised to see the twins. When you go any place by magic it is natural that you should make no noise at all.

So nobody had noticed them until Nancy spoke.

"We haven't the least idea," said Mrs. John. "Not the least. All I know is that one minute we had a house and the next minute we didn't."

"That's all!"

"Maybe the wind blew it away," said Nick.

"Maybe it did," said Jack.

"Maybe somebody needed a house and stole it," said Nancy.

"Maybe," said Jill.

"Oh, dear me! Maybe won't bring our house back," sighed Mrs. John. "I really don't know what we are going to do about it."

"Don't worry," said a kind voice close by. And there stood fat, kind Mrs. Spratt, the fattest person in all Daddy ander Land. "Come right over to my house and have breakfast all of you. Jack and I have pancakes and the pancakes and I eat the bacon. We can talk it all over at the breakfast table."

FASHION HINTS

SNAPPY POCKETS
The monogrammed pocket is seen on some of the new coats and is a very snappy little touch.

RED WOOL COAT
A very attractive coat of red wool has a long detachable cape of seal fur that buttons on to the shoulders.

NEW BRASSIERES
New brassieres of fine lace are made over a foundation of net of flesh colored chiffon.

QUILTED FRONTS
Quilted fronts of silk add warmth and charm to wool coats, particularly those very untrimmed, straight models.

SMART HANDBAG
The envelope purse made of satin or moulre finely pleated and with a monogram of brilliants is the smartest handbag one can carry at the moment.

BLACK LACE
Some of the most lovely dinner and evening gowns are of delicate black lace over tinted tissue cloth.

BRIGHT COLORS
Raffia in bright colors is used to embroider summer hats and to make ornaments for belts and bags.

GOLF OUTFIT
A complete golf outfit that will stand any weather has a skirt jacket and cape of lavender striped tweed.

ATTRACTIVE COATS
Smart winter coats are reversible, made in two shades of kasha or heavier wools. An attractive coat of black silk rep is lined with red and black plaid and becomes a sport model when worn plaid side out.

New Wool Material

This very attractive coat is made of the new wool material with a pattern of colors woven in the cloth. It gives the appearance of being very ornate but is really only a straight wrap-over model bound with fur. It is lined with red kasha cloth.

Some Niceties About Table Setting Mode

First, lay the tablecloth—the tablecloth—the centerpiece—and the decoration. (If flowers are used, be careful that they are not sign so as to obstruct the view across the table.)

The same general directions are used for setting the dinner table as for setting the breakfast table, with the addition of the soup spoon—of the soup is served, which is placed at the right of the knife. If a salad is served, the salad fork should be placed at the left of the meat fork.

In many homes even when there are no guests the food is served by the man of the family. The main dish, that is, the meat, fish, etc., should be placed directly in front of him—the vegetable dishes at the left and right of the meat. A pile of hot plates are placed in front of the host, if not too far to the right. The carving knife, fork and serving spoons are placed at the right for the former a carving rest is used.

Every hostess may follow her own ideas about serving as far as details are concerned, but a few general directions or rules should be followed when a maid serves.

When dishes are passed about the table, they should always be passed to the left. This gives the person an opportunity to use their right hand and serve themselves.

If a maid waits on the table she takes the plates that have been served and places them in front of each person from the right side. Plates are also removed from the right side. In removing dishes between courses, first remove the main dishes (meat, vegetables, etc.)—then the clean dishes and silver that will not be needed for the next course—then the crumbs, if necessary, as a table never looks attractive when dirty dishes from one course remain on the table during the next course. Even at the most informal meals it is better to remove the dishes between courses. And, never stack up dishes at the table before removing them.

Children should be allowed and taught to help in serving. They should have a daily share in such duties as filling the water glasses—passing butter, or silver and removing the dishes between courses. In many families the mother is the only one who leaves the table, but I think some younger member of the household should do this. It will not only save steps for mother, but will teach that child to become adept in serving as he or she becomes older.

For luncheon, if the bare table is used, the same as at breakfast, lay the correct number of place doilies at equal distances around the table and place on each dolly a service plate. The silver is then arranged the same as for other meals, the knives, spoons and silver needed for the first course at the right, forks at the left—never laying more than three—if more are needed, place them when required.

However, the oyster or cocktail fork is placed at the right of the knives—on the outer edge.

Writers seem not to agree about the placing of the napkin. When possible place it at the left of the forks where it belongs. If the napkin is placed beneath the edge of the plate

The Tangle

LETTER FROM RUTH ELLINGTON TO WALTER BURKE DEAR MAN.

I am sending this letter to your office in New York because I know that you will stay a short time there before you come to me.

You say to me, Walter, that I must have faith and trust in you. Have I not always had the greatest faith and trust in you? Even before Harry Ellington left me, and I knew that he was becoming more or less bored not only with me but with married life, against the judgment of every one of my friends, you will remember that I took your counsel.

Of course, I know now that you loved me then, but you did not tell me so until after I found out that Harry Ellington was betraying me every day of his life. You have been the one man, Walter, that has never betrayed my trust. I think if you did, I should want to die, and yet, dear, I'm afraid, I'm afraid to marry you, my married life was so exceedingly unhappy that I have sometimes wondered if love can be wound about and confined in marriage bonds.

I rather distrust myself as a wife. Walter, Harry Ellington seemed to be very fond of me when we were first married, and in fact, I received a letter from him the other day in which he practically told me that he wished he had me now. Yet, he grew tired, very tired, when he was with me constantly. Won't you?

Oh, my dear, my dear, it is a very bewildering problem, and I'm much afraid that whichever way I solve it I shall feel it is the wrong way.

I have been happier, dear, the last few months than I ever have been since that wild honeymoon of mine and Harry's, and it is because I have been doing something that I love to do. You know that I set myself up in business, but I don't know that I ever told you—in fact, I do not think I ever told you or anyone else—that Leslie Prescott gave me the money to do this, and has been my silent partner all through the venture.

It has been eminently successful, and I have almost come to feel that work is the panacea for every ill. It gives one a chance to bring many contacts into one's life—at least the kind of work I am doing. You meet people, they amuse, they interest, or they anger you. I, at least, am never indifferent to them. And it gives you something to think about besides yourself.

One grows so self-centered and so self-pitying when one lives much alone. Until I went into this business, Walter, I thought I was one of the most miserable women in the world; and now I know I'm not.

I expect you are saying: "What is Ruth writing all this to me at this time for?" I, myself, don't know dear, except that I don't want to give up this little shop, and I know you like to travel, you like your wife to be extremely brilliant, to meet and entertain your friends. In fact, you want her to be just wife. I wonder if I can do this? I am fonder of you, Walter, than of any other man I know. It would break my heart not to have the feeling of your interest and care of me. In fact, I'm one of those naughty little girls that want to eat my cake and have it, too.

Until I see you, dear, am going to sign myself as

Simple Act Often Has A Deep Reason

BY ALBERT APPLE
The poet who reads the captions or subtitles aloud at the movies is not so easy to explain. He is an intricate study in psychology, the science of why men do as they do, is this an irony of his neighbors?

Always there is some one with him. In fact, he wouldn't think of reading the titles aloud if he were alone.

So, then, his motive is most apt to be to create a favorable impression on his companion. He is vain, feels superior; fears that the party he is with is not as quick and alert as he is—that the printed words will vanish from the silver screen before his companion can read and grasp them.

Hence, in his vanity, he calls the neighbors' attention to his companion's dull wits by reading titles aloud for him.

Quite unconsciously, though. Does it by instinct, often without realizing. But it is by such acts that men betray their real selves—their repressed emotions and opinions of themselves.

Again, there may be another motive. When men are alone, as in the woods for any length of time—or women alone a lot doing housework—they are apt to form the habit of speaking to themselves. Even muttering on a conversation with an invisible presence—a sort of twin or second self.

A spectator at a movie is not alone. As he learns by the growls as he feels his way through the dark to a seat, stepping on others' feet, tripping over sprawled-out legs or sagging onto hats.

But the movie may so interest and fascinate him that all else vanishes except the plot unfolding on the screen.

His mental attitude is that he is alone in the universe, watching a drama or comedy staged for his special benefit. He forgets that he has neighbors. And, like the man actually alone in the wilderness, he talks to himself—occasionally a comment to the screen players but more often a repeating of subtitles.

Behold him, temporarily hypnotized. A third explanation is that he re

You May Need Our Dental Service

To sell our dental service is not a privilege but a duty. 80% of people need dental work and do not get it.

They suffer in ignorance. The situation cannot look up unless we talk up.

A mouth full of decayed teeth sending forth pollution at every breath is a serious menace to good health.

Millions of germs multiply in such a mouth and get mixed with the food and carried into the food and carried into the stomach.

Later these germs get into the blood circulation and produce disease in various parts of the body.

You need our services to change this unhealthy state into a healthy state.

Good teeth improve your appearance, your indigestion, your health, and saves you from toothache.

Step right into our dental office and let us tell you what is best for your case and the cost. Do not delay. Get the benefit now.

When

There are lots of things that you are going to do when you "get around to it." They'll never be done; things that are put off once have a habit of being put off again—and finally forgotten.

A great many things you can afford to put off, and neglect. Saving, you can't. You can't have if you don't save!

Service That Serves And Saves

There isn't any other service quite like that rendered by the Post-Crescent A-B-C Classified Section.

Classified offers are economical to an unusual degree-and classified ads afford many opportunities to slip one dollar into the purchasing bag ordinarily requiring two dollars.

And when we state that the classified section saves money-we are not finished.

Classified ads make another big saving-of what is said to be the equivalent of money-time.

According to a firmly established belief-time is money. The perfect systematization of the classified ads with their alphabetical and numerical "Guides" raises the classified section to the pinnacle of service mediums by making opportunity selection practically instantaneous.

Read the section which serves and saves-today and every day.

G. O. P. BULWARK AGAINST CHAOS, WOMAN DECLARES

Small Crowd Hears Mrs. Theodora Youmans Discuss Republican Platform

No woman wants to bring up her children in a country where chaos and radicalism has full swing. Mrs. Theodora W. Youmans, Waukesha, declared in an address to about 60 persons mostly women, at Appleton Vocational school Friday evening. Mrs. Youmans is the first of the three speakers secured by the civics department of the Appleton Women's club to bring before the members of the three parties to Appleton citizens.

Mrs. Youmans, said she was speaking primarily for women, and was talking in the terms they would understand, however simple and fundamental the men might think them.

Mrs. Youmans, who is a well known club woman and is prominent in political work in the state, talked about the past history, present achievements, and possible future of the Republican party.

Every woman faces the problem of whether to join a party, or vote independently. Mrs. Youmans said. She believes that everyone ought to know the platform of the party which "by the people" can be carried on without some means of expressing its differing sentiments and opinions. And so often votes were cast away by being used independent of party. She said that it was no disgrace to belong to a party, any more than to a church, because one is born into it. The only real thing to be ashamed of is not to know why one belongs to it!

Mrs. Youmans reviewed the history of the Republican party, out which grew out of the old Federalist organization. She said the party came into existence to save the nation, and the strong national feeling still characterizes it. The protective tariff has always been more or less a factor on the platform of the party she said. Suffrage was better supported by the Republicans than by any other party, and adopted by it first. Mrs. Youmans declared.

The speaker said three history making events are the result of the present administration. She pointed out the budget for the government was instituted under Mr. Harding and has found a real protector in President Coolidge. The Ruhr settlement, achieved by Charles G. Dawes, and the immigration bill are other outstanding accomplishments of the administration mentioned by Mrs. Youmans.

The divisions of the party platform which appeal to women are the declaration in regard to enforcement of law, the attitude toward the league of nations, which instinctively parts the strong inherited national feeling, and the stand against socialism, which is perhaps the biggest issue in the campaign. No woman wants to bring up children in a state of chaos, and if given her choice, would unhesitatingly prefer a conservative government, that is stable and slow in embroiling the nation in a position where it no longer could control its own decisions. This latter fact, Mrs. Youmans made more vivid to the audience by telling of the recent request of the Japanese to make implementation an international problem. If America had belonged to the League of Nations, the Japanese exclusion act would probably never been permitted by the rest of the world.

Mrs. E. R. Bowler, Sheboygan, will address Appleton citizens Friday evening Oct. 31, in the Vocational school and will speak on the candidates and platform of the Democratic party. Mrs. William Kittie, Madison, will speak about the progressive party on Monday evening, Nov. 3.

First Lien Twenty Year Sinking Fund 7 1/2% Gold Bonds

To Be Dated November 1, 1924 To Mature November 1, 1944

Interest payable May 1 and November 1 without deduction for normal federal income tax up to 2%. Redeemable on any interest payment date, upon thirty days' prior notice, either as a whole at the option of the company, at 105%, or by lot, through the operation of the sinking fund, at 110%.

Principal and interest payable in United States gold coin at the principal office of THE NATIONAL CITY BAN KOF NEW YORK, Trustee

The Trust Indenture Will Provide a Sinking Fund, Commencing May 1, 1925, Which Is Expected to Redeem the Entire Issue of Bonds at 110% Prior to the Maturity Date.

Mr. Thomas A. Howell, President of the Company, summarizes his letter to us as follows:

The Cuban Dominican Sugar Company, upon completion of transactions incident to this financing, will become one of the largest producers of raw cane sugar in the world. The properties controlled include twelve modern, well equipped sugar centrals, supported by adequate land areas planted in cane. It is estimated they will produce, during the 1924-25 crop season, in excess of 2,400,000 bags of raw sugar. Through the pledge of $16,500,000 principal amount first (closed) mortgage bonds of certain controlled companies, constituting their entire funded debt, this issue of bonds, in the opinion of counsel, will be secured by a first lien upon the properties of such companies, which produced 941,034 bags of raw sugar during the 1923-1924 season, and it is estimated will produce 1,140,000 bags during the coming season. The issue will be additionally secured by the pledge of the entire issued and outstanding common stocks (other than directors' shares) of all controlled companies, including the entire common stock of sugar estates of Oriente, Incorporated. The net earnings of the properties on which this issue of bonds will be secured by a first lien have been for the past two years, respectively, $2,926,151 and $3,977,524, after depreciation and local taxes but before interest charges and U. S. Federal taxes, as compared with an annual interest charge of $1,125,000 upon this entire issue of bonds. The lands owned and controlled contributory to the mill properties are fully sufficient in present plantings and in reserve acreage to support full operation of the present mill capacity for many years after the maturity of these bonds. Because of the very satisfactory land situation and labor conditions, combined with efficient mill operation, the company's properties, as a whole, are capable of producing raw sugar at a cost considerably below the average of Cuban estates.

Application will be made to list these Bonds on the New York Stock Exchange

TRADE MOVEMENTS AWAIT RESULTS OF NOV. 4 ELECTION

Readjustment of Prices and Wages One of Problems
Ahead of Business

BY JOHN T. FLYNN

New York -- There is a general pause in industry now. This is everywhere manifest save in the distribution of the fruits of the farms and in the department of the operations of the railroads in the transportation of grain on a scale never before reached. The extent to which the farmer is cashing in on his good luck, however, this will soon be over and so will the election. In the remaining months of the year then we are likely to see the following factors at work:

A stabilizing of prices around the present levels.
A readjustment of wages in some industries.
A breathing spell in the flotation of large bond issues.

An improvement in employment and a very gradual and cautious resumption of business.
The chart published with this review gives some idea of the course of living costs and wages. Wages have held pretty steadily around a high level and have shown a slight disposition lately to follow the downward curve in the cost of living. There is a sufficient spread between living costs and wages to afford employers a fruitful ground for discussing wage readjustments. If these readjustments can be gotten over before the end of the year without dislocation of industry, we should see an era of strong, sound and profitable business expansion beginning with the first of the year.

THE ELECTION DISCOUNTED
What of the slight gain in security prices? Apparently the stock market has been prepared to withstand any election emergency. That being the case, it is quite natural that some traders should venture to speculate on their optimism. The trading is small, however, and unless some exceptional piece of disconcerting news or some altogether unexpected overturn occurs, the situation should remain fairly stationary until after November 4.

MONEY RATES
One important Wall Street operator believes that money will continue easy not only for three or four months, but for a year or two more at least. His reasons are plausible. First, our gold reserve is so large that it will take at least that long to bring it down to a point where its contraction would have a serious effect on the market. Second, the prospect of gold coming in in excess of our shipments abroad for several years is such that we will see little contraction in the reserve. Those who think heavy foreign loans will drain it away overlook the fact that from England alone we will be getting $180,000,000 a year and that other nations who owe us billions will shortly take up the question of refunding, so that as we send away

COST OF LIVING—WAGES.

Gold on new loans will continue to receive gold on old ones.

Those who think the money rates will rise in a few months point to the declining imports of gold. The net imports for the last six months are as follows:

April	$44,928,000
May	40,430,000
June	24,913,000
July	15,507,000
August	12,534,000
September	1,976,000

There can be no doubt that this steady decrease in the net imports of gold is significant. Of course there is still a balance in our favor and as long as this continues, no matter how small, our existing surplus will remain intact. Indeed we would have to continue to have an excess of exports of gold for a long period before we would see our gold reserve seriously affected. They now amount, according to most authorities, to not less than a billion more than we need.

AFTER ELECTION—WHAT?

At least one answer comes from the steel mills. Buying now is slow. Production is holding close to the September rate, but orders come forward in small quantity. It is known that large programs are under way which would justify the expectation of heavier purchases now. Since the purchases do not come the belief is general that all are waiting upon the election. That being so the opinion is equally fixed, in the steel mills at least, that the weeks following the election will see a developing buying campaign.

CONFIRMED BY AUTO MAKERS

Automobile makers confirm this view. Production in this industry has also jogged along around the September rate. The latter part of this quarter is usually a bit slow in this trade, but manufacturers are looking for a speeding up, first, because they think the country will be over its usual mid-campaign lethargy and secondly, they think the farmer will have his profits in his bill by that time and will be in the market for fall crops. It is a great change in the spirit of this industry now as compared with a year ago. Then the most inflated visions of the coming spring were in the air. Now no preparations are being made by the industry to meet an extraordinary demand for cars in the spring of 1925.

PROTECT HEALTH OF CUSTOMER IS HAMM'S SLOGAN

Soft Drink Manufacturer Does Extensive Business in Fox River Valley

Grane is the most popular soft drink with the people of Appleton and vicinity, according to W. Hamm of W. Hamm and Sons, manufacturers of carbonated beverages, soft drinks and sodas located at 820 North Division-st.

Mr. Hamm does mostly a wholesale business but he solicits family trade and delivers to the home. He sells his beverages at picnics and ball games, having had the sale at the baseball games ever since Brandt park was built. Missing bottles cause him a great deal of trouble.

Every precaution is taken to safeguard the health of the customer. The process of carbonation destroys the germs by the infusion of carbon dioxide gas. Empty bottles enter the machine through a pre-rinse of cold water. Then they enter a caustic solution where a temperature of not less than 125 degrees sterilizes them by a ten-minute soak. Then they are washed by pressure, which is the latest process, and rinsed in pure cold water. Then they are taken to a machine where one unit of syrup is placed in them by one process and a moment later carbonated water to the filling point by another. Finally they are hermetically sealed and thrown out to be put in a case, ready to be delivered at call. Thus the bottles are not touched by the hand until they are filled.

Mr. Hamm is always willing to add the latest improvements to his shop and by next year will have all the latest in his line, making his business one of the best equipped in the country. Recently he installed a filling machine of the very latest type. This machine fills one case per minute under high and low pressure. Its feature is the low pressure. Goods can be carbonated as low as five pounds, which is much lower than most machines are able to do.

Appleton has been the location of Mr. Hamm's business for the last 15 years. He was brought up in the business starting with the New London Bottling Works. Later he bought out the George Daubrich and located at the place where the present Daubrich residence now stands, 647 Pacific-st. He sells his product through the Fox River Valley, travelling often as far as thirty miles.

Flotation Of German Loan Means Improved Business In America

Babson Confident That American Confidence in Germany Will Result in Opening New Avenues of Trade

Babson Park, Mass.—An analysis is being made at Babson Park of the subscriptions to the new German loan; who they are from, what sections of the country are providing the money, and the interest which is being shown by investors everywhere. That the loan has been a huge success is, of course, common knowledge; but it has not yet been fully realized what this successful flotation means. In an interview Roger V. Babson made the following statement:

"So many comments have been made regarding the security and yield of the new German bonds that I need not discuss this phase of the question. Personally, I am hopeful regarding European bonds only on the assumption that there is to be general disarmament in Europe. Europe has money enough either to make good its indebtedness or to maintain large armies. Whether or not it has sufficient funds to do both, only the future can tell. I sincerely trust that the League of Nations will develop some plan which will enable Europe to safely disarm. Then there will be no question regarding European bonds and the present German bonds should sell at a handsome premium. The fact that Europe has not disarmed is why Germany and these other countries are obliged to pay such a high rate of interest for their money. Moreover, the banks who have subscribed to these issues so generously have probably done so in anticipation that some such disarmament plan will be successfully worked out. Irrespective, however, of the question of the future market price of the securities two facts are self-evident:

"(1) The flotation of this loan in America and Europe means that arteries of trade, which have been clogged the past ten years, are today being opened. It is true that peace was theoretically declared when the treaty of Versailles was signed. The signing of treaties, however, does not mean peace. The world is ruled by feelings rather than by treaties. Up to a few weeks ago, there was almost as much bitterness between Germany and France as there was when the Armistice was signed. In a general way this applies to all countries, including the United States. Up to the last week it was not good form even in the United States and Canada to do much business in Germany. The manufacturer or merchant who did business with Germany was looked upon by many people as a 'scab' is looked upon by members of a labor union. Today this is changed. The fact that the best bankers in the United States, Canada, England, France and other countries have subscribed to this loan shows that a great change in the situation has taken place. Certainly General Dawes and his associates are entitled to a tremendous amount of credit for their constructive part in this important development.

"(2) The opening up of these arteries of finance and commerce brings a real benefit to many sections of this country. Probably the first section to benefit will be the South. Germany is bound to import more cotton during the next twelve months than she has during any twelve months of the last ten years. With the good cotton crop which the South is having and the high prices which she is to receive, all the cotton states should distinctly benefit by the successful flotation of this German loan. The copper interests should also benefit somewhat. Although the consumption of copper is steadily increasing with the tremendous new bodies now being developed in South America and Africa, the price has been kept down to the detriment of American mines. Germany will now come into the market for copper and European consumption in general should be stimulated thereby. This means increased prosperity for Utah, Nevada, Arizona, and possibly even Lake districts. All sections depending upon copper should be helped by this German loan. Although the price of wheat has turned recently the sag would have been far more had this German loan been a failure. With the great amount of wheat being rushed to market and the huge crop, it is surprising that the price has not broken more. The successful flotation of the German loan should increase foreign demand and increase exports and thus distinctly help the grain situation. This especially applies to Canada which is destined to become the world's great est factor in the production of wheat. "One should not close a comment on the German loan without reference to the men behind it. As I have often stated before, it is men who make prosperity; not money or materials or not even natural resources. The men behind this movement are the finest men that the world produces. I have the honor to be personally acquainted with Mr. Owen D. Young who has had general charge of the Reparations Readjustment in Europe during the past few months. Mr. Young was a Boston man, a law partner of Mr. Charles H. Tyler. He then went to New York and is now Chairman of the Board of Directors of the General Electric Company. Also, it was his initiative that formed the Radio Corporation of America, and a number of other very important and far reaching developments. Mr. Young is a man of great ability and combines those two qualities of conservatism and vision in a most wonderful manner. I might also comment on General Dawes, Mr. Robinson, Mr. Gilbert and other men connected with this work. The fact that they are now interested in bringing about of a real friendly feeling between the European countries, which for years have been fighting, is of itself a tremendous thing. Today's business as indicated on the Babsonchart is 1 per cent below normal. For the first time for many months I am willing to forecast that this will climb upward before long."

LUMBER MARKET IS SPOTTED BUT ACTIVE

Demand for lumber has become more spotted, but the market, viewed as a whole, is still fairly active. Southern pine continues to attract a good volume of business, while both output of and orders for Douglas fir have decreased, and prices have weakened perceptibly. North Carolina pine has been doing rather better, than was expected, but western pines remain quiet. Northern pine is good call, both from northern retailers and eastern industrial users. Northern hemlock, on the other hand, has a very slow movement and is weak, despite the fact that the rest of the production this year has resulted in low mill supplies. Cypress shows a semblance of activity and prices are well maintained while hardwoods are in fact, to good demand, that for the northern species showing a slight increase.

A considerable improvement in the call for southern pine was reported toward the middle of the month, according to the American Lumbermen's Association. While the volume of orders for this pine has been seasonal, it has again forged ahead of production, and is proving entirely satisfactory to the manufacturers. Good business is also coming from the South, the West and southern half of the middle West. The East also is buying better, but northern industrial concerns and agricultural sections are comparatively quiet. This tendency is more markedly toward small orders. Their total, however, makes up for lack of size. Some railroad business continues to be offered, but outside of this there are relatively few industrial orders. This probably will remain true until after the Presidential election and the completion of inventories. Mill stocks meanwhile are broken and prices are remarkably weak.
